THE BANKING BILL

Reported To The Senate

Washington, July 1.

Drastically revised from the form in which it was passed by the House, but retaining control of the nation's credit in a majority of the Federal Reserve Board, the Banking Bill was reported to the Senate Banking Committee by Senator Glass to-day.

Under the revised draft, credit control would be placed in an Open Market Committee, composed of seven members of the Federal Reserve Board and five representatives of the twelve Reserve banks.
At present twelve Reserve bank
governors form the Open Market Committee.

The new Federal Reserve Board of seven members would be known as the Board of Governors and would be appointed for a fourteen-year term.

The Open Market Committee is authorised to initiate policies regarding the buying and selling of Government securities, discount rates and reserve requirements, but,
as under the existing law, it would not be mandatory upon the Reserve
Banks, contrary to the House version.

Under the amendment to the National Banking Law the National Banks would be permitted to underwrite and sell securities, with limitations. The banks could not underwrite any one issue by more than twenty per cent. or more than $100,000 of the total, whichever was the larger amount.

UNIMPAIRED SURPLUS.

With respect to any more issues,
underwriting could not exceed at any time ten per cent. of the banks' capital stocks and ten per cent. of its unimpaired surplus.
The bank's aggregate underwrit-
ings would not exceed at any time 200 per cent. of its surplus.

No bank or banker under federal or state supervision would be subject to the liabilities imposed by the Securities Act.

This amendment was received enthusiastically in New York banking circles where the main source of worry during the past year has been the diminishing opportunities for profit. In reflection, bank stocks which had advanced sharply on Saturday in anticipation of such a measure, held exceptionally firm to-day.—

IN MONGOLIA TO-DAY

Britain Keeps
Watch

London, July 1.

The situation in Mongolia was the subject of questions asked in the House of Commons to-day by Major-General Sir Alfred Knox
(Con. Wycombe), who suggested that, in view of rumours of a revival of national feeling in the territory and the chance of Inner and Outer Mongolia coming together, it was vitally important to discover whether the tendency of the tribal leaders was to join up with Japan or Russia.

Sir Alfred asked whether Sir
Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, would ask for a report from the Ambassador at Peking on the subject.

Sir Samuel Hoare promised to consider the suggestion, but pointed out that conditions in Inner Mongolia were quite distinct from those in Outer Mongolia, the former area being under the influence of the Nanking Government to a much greater extent than the latter.

"GENERALLY NORMAL"

Sir Samuel added that there were divergencies of opinion between the leaders in both areas,
and he would prefer not to draw any general inference of the nature indicated by Sir Alfred Knox.
According to latest reports, said
Sir Samuel, the situation in Inner Mongolia was generally normal.
Certain changes in the administration of Chahar Province and the disposition of Chinese troops there had recently been discussed between the Chinese and Japanese military leaders in North China, and it was believed that a settlement of the question was in sight.

KING'S COLOUR

For Indian Navy

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14.

The India Office announces that the King has been graciously pleased to announce his intention of presenting a King's Colour to the Royal Indian Navy, of a design identical with that approved for the Royal Navy in 1924, and subsequently also approved for the Navies of the Dominions and for the New Zealand Division of the Royal Navy.

WAR TRAINING

On October 2, 1934, the King approved the grant of the title "The Royal Navy" to a Service whose history dates from the year 1812,
in which year the East India Company dispatched ships to Surat to protect the company's interests against the Portuguese and the Dutch as well as against pirates.
From 1812 to 1863, under the successive titles of the Honourable East India Company's Marine, the Bombay Marine, and the Indian Navy, it was a purely naval combatant Service. But from 1863 it ceased to be regarded as a combatant Service and was chiefly employed on transport duties, and hydrographic surveying. Nevertheless, officers and men continued to receive war training, and in the Great War personnel of the Royal Indian Marine, as it was then known, served with the Grand Fleet and also in the Atlantic,
North Sea, and Mediterranean
Fleets, and in various capacities with most of the Expeditionary Forces.

In recent years the Service has been reorganised as a combatant Service. Its ships fly the White Ensign and its discipline and training follow those of the Royal Navy. At the Silver Jubilee Naval Review at Spithead in July, the Royal Indian Navy will be represented by the new minesweeping
ship "Indus."

FOR MANY ARE CALLED

Difficulties in Path of A Would-be R.A.

Mr. Epstein's revelation in withdrawing his Royal Academy nomination that his name has been on the list for 10 years throws a light on the difficulties in the path of a would-be R.A.

There is no royal and direct road to that honour. An artist must first be proposed and seconded for an Associateship. When a vacancy occurs an election is held at which all R.A.'s and A.R.A.'s are entitled to take part.

Many artists fall so often at this first fence—they may wait, like Mr. Epstein, for 10, 15, sometimes as long as 20 years—that they give up.

Even when the artist has become an A.R.A. there is no guarantee that he will get through the second election to full membership. Of the 26 Associates at present, one was elected 10 years ago, one in 1926, four in 1927, two in 1928, and one in 1929.

Patience is a Virtue

Shortly after the war an artist who had been an A.R.A. for 12 years, without passing to the rank of Academician, withdrew in disgust.

At the very next election meeting for R.A.'s somebody got up and said, "What about electing old So-and-so?"—a proposal which was carried unanimously. But old So-and-so, they found, had just ceased to be an Associate.

In the old days before the rule was passed whereby septuagenarian R.A.'s, of whom there are now 11, became Senior Academicians, the 'book' in Academy promotion was even worse.

Even as it is, it takes nearly as long getting into the Academy as it used to take for the M.C.C.

TESTS TO FIND INTELLIGENCE

On Anglo-Chinese Children

Mr. P. C. Hu, of China, is to carry out intelligence tests on English and Chinese children in London schools, writes a correspondent.

When I went to see him to-day, I imagined the interview might go something like this:

"Be pleased to demean yourself by sitting on lowly and hard University chair," said Mr. Hu, beaming at me inscrutably.

"You wish to hear of my insignificant experiments? I will absorb your valuable time only to say that your beneficent and most excellent L.C.C. has given me permission to make intelligence tests at their paragon East End schools of your wise and upright children and the lowly offspring of the Chinese.

WISDOM AND PROBITY

"It is, of course, not to be thought that our poor infants should compare with the wisdom and probity and intelligence of your astute little Bill Hugginses and Florrie Hawkinses. But, as Confucius says, 'What is sauce for great and powerful roose is also sauce for lowly gander.'"

I was wrong, Mr. Hu, small and smiling, carries an attaché case full of psychological text-books, and speaks idiomatic English.

He came from Nanking University to study for three years or so at London University. Now he is taking an opportunity of finding out if the set intelligence tests formulated by the Department of Psychology where he studies can be applied equally well to Chinese children.

Hence the tests.

"Take analogy test," beamed Mr. Hu, "very simple. Here—Beginning is to End as January is to—"

"February," I said.

"December," corrected Mr. Hu, gently. "Now—Midnight is to Morning as Midday is to—"

"Very easy."

"I don't know," I said. "The night before!" said five students at the same time. "Evening," beamed Mr. Hu.

Poor children. They'll wake up at night screaming that five o'clock is to early morning tea what half-term is to Saturday afternoon.

"Already I examine 60 Anglo-Chinese children," said Mr. Hu. Soon I hope to have examined 100 Anglo-Chinese and 100 English. They must, of course, have the same environment.

"Then, too, I hope to examine parents of said children."

"A little difficult, perhaps?" I said.

"Very," admitted Mr. Hu gravely. "And when will all the full results be known and classified and published to the world?"

"Twenty years from now," said a professor.

We had a short interval for piling wooden bricks, one upon another, and fitting missing pieces into wooden pictures.

"American psychologists used them during the war to find the intelligence of their soldiers. A lot of them couldn't read, you see," said the professor.

"Perhaps when I return to China I use your methods of test on Chinese children to find their intelligence," said Mr. Hu.

OUTSTANDING FEATURES

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Nanking, June 24.

The outstanding features of the new budget, which has been approved by the Legislative Yuan, are the reduction of the expenditures for Party and military affairs and the increased appropriation for industrial and educational work. The $2,000,000 appropriation for relief work is also an important feature of the new budget.

The expenditure for education and culture during the 24th fiscal year will be $37,211,621. Of this sum, $1,961,042 is for the Ministry of Education and its subordinate organs, $13,827,081 for the various National Universities and Colleges, $1,580,000 for the National Institutes of Research, $16,800 for the education of the orphans of Revolutionary martyrs, $2,400,000 for free education, $14,800,000 for special civil and elementary education in the bandit-recovered areas, and $498,500 for the first reserve funds. A sum of $2,150,000 will go towards extraordinary expenses.

THE FLYING BOATS

Two Remarkable Flights

Singapore, June 24.

Two remarkable flights have been made by two Singapore flying boats of No. 205 Squadron, R.A.F.

The machines which left Singapore on a flight to Hong Kong did the first lap of the journey—to Kamranh Bay—in 7½ hours. The second lap to Hong Kong was accomplished in the same time.

The aircraft left Kamranh Bay, a lonely spot on the French Indo-China coast some 200 miles from Saigon, on the second stage of the journey at 5.50 a.m. on Saturday.

They landed at Kai Tak, Hong Kong, at 1.30 p.m.

The flight from Singapore to Kamranh Bay was made between 6.15 a.m. and 1.45 p.m. on Thursday.

Both distances are between 700 and 800 miles which means that the aircraft averaged about 100 m.p.h.—exceedingly good for 4-engined heavy reconnaissance aircraft, one carrying the full complement of crew, nine people, and the other just one less.

It was planned to complete the journey in much less than two and a half days, stopping only one night at Kamranh Bay. On their arrival there, however, one of the aircraft came into collision with the refuelling boat and an alleron (wing flap) was damaged.

IMPORTANCE OF FLIGHT

The flight is of the utmost importance not only from the point of view of establishing speedy communication between two R.A.F. stations abroad. It opens up a new commercial route.

The course of the complete cruise and the actual flying times involved do in fact revive interest in a number of links in the network of air lines which will one day cross and re-cross Pacific waters.

From Hong Kong, the aircraft are flying to Manila where after a stay of two or three days they will make another 1,500 miles flight in two "hops" of a duration of between seven and eight hours each—to Singapore via Labuan.

Three nations are anxious to open up commercial air routes in this part of the world, Great Britain, America and Holland.

AMERICAN INTEREST

It was reported some time ago that Pan-America Airways, after crossing the Pacific from San Francisco, intend to throw out a line to Singapore, probably via Manila and Borneo.

Dutch Airways have plans to fly from Java, via Dutch and British North Borneo, at least to Manila.

Finally, the British Government has been trying for a long time to complete arrangements for an extension of the Imperial route to Hong Kong, probably via Bangkok. Territorial difficulties have been the chief cause of delay.

Two alternative routes, capable of operation by seaplanes and not landplanes, of course, are suggested by the cruise being carried out by the R.A.F. at the moment.

The Singapore III's are due back in Singapore on June 29, Wing-Com. C. L. Scott is in command of the flight. Air Commodore S. W. Smith was to have gone but a sudden attack of pleurisy prevented him from doing so. Instead he is going to Fraser's Hill on Monday to recuperate.

VARSITY GIRLS

(Special Air Mail Service)

Oxford, June 14.

known for years.

To-day it was learned that yet another undergraduate had been sent down.

She is Lady Katherine Cairns, daughter of Earl Cairns, and a close friend of Miss Edith Shawcross, the tennis Blue, who, as reported yesterday, was sent down because it was alleged, she had contributed information to the undergraduate paper, the "Isis,"
about an occasion at St. Hilda's, when Miss Mann, the Principal,
found her door locked.

The culprit has not been found.
Lady Katherine's connection with the affair, which resulted in the banning of St. Hilda's Elights Week dance, has not been revealed.

I understand that she was sent for by Miss Mann, who alleged that she was the culprit, and demanded a confession. Lady Katherine denied the accusation.
Later, Miss Mann objected to some paragraphs in the "Isis," which referred to the way in which she (Miss Mann) was investigating the affair, and "sent down" Lady Katherine.

LEADING SPORTSWOMAN

"I am" to be allowed to take schools," Lady Katherine said today, "but I have to leave the college."

At the moment she is in the middle of her final examination.
Lady Katherine is captain of the Oxford University Women's Tennis
Club and is a fencing Blue.

She is also well known as a racing motorist, and was one of the first women undergraduates to be allowed to have a car.

Lady Katherine attended the Court Ball at Buckingham Palace
last night.

FATHER'S INTERVIEW

Miss Shawcross's father had a long interview with Miss Mann to-day, but although his daughter denies that she supplied the information for the paragraphs, the Principal refused to take her back.

To-night the legality of Miss Mann's action in banning Miss Shawcross from the University laboratories is being hotly debated here.

It is pointed out that it is doubtful whether she has any jurisdiction over the laboratories.

This last incident, it was revealed to-day, was the climax to a series of practical jokes at St.
Hilda's.

The undergraduates have been playing some very girlish pranks.

A BOOBY TRAP

Last term someone hid all the gowns of the members of the senior common-room, and they were unable to attend chapel. On another occasion a large booby trap of laundry baskets was found outside Miss Mann's door.

One night some undergraduates
contrived to make Miss Mann's
telephone ring all night.

Yet another story is told of how one night the lists of names on which students have to enter the fact that they are going out, and the time at which they return,
were tampered with.

It was made to appear that the entire college had gone out.
Chaos resulted, as no one knew who was in or who was out.

NEWS FROM MOVIE-LAND

ELSTREE'S BIG SIX

TO-DAY'S RADIO PROGRAMME

Broadcast by Z.B.W. on 355 Metres

New Productions

The B.I.P. studios at Elstree and Welwyn are working at top pressure. No fewer than six productions are at present in full swing.

Gitta Alpar, the famous Hungarian Gipsy soprano, is already feeling quite at home at Elstree, where she is working on Marcel Varniel's production of "The Du Barry".

"Rushes" on the film indicate that Owen Nares is giving an excellent rendering of the part of the King, and that it will probably be his best film part, while Arthur Margetson also promises to surpass himself.

Miss Alpar's singing has brought a new note of brilliancy to films. Never before has such a beautiful female voice been heard on a sound track. Studio executives confidently predict that her singing will cause a sensation when the film is shown.

The cast also includes Hugh Miller, Gibb McLaughlin, Margaret Bannerman, Iris Ashley and Hay Petrie. Claude Friess-Greene is at the camera.

NEARING COMPLETION

Lillian Harvey has nearly finished her first British tankie, "Invitation to the Waltz".

A feature of this production is Weber's music which is skilfully brought into the picture. The full cast is Lillian Harvey, Carl Esmond, Harold Warrender, Richard Bird, Esme Percy, Paul Graetz, Alexander Field, Wendy Toye, Hay Petrie, Charles Carson and Anton Dolin.

Ronald Neame, who was responsible for photography on "Drake of England", is camera man on "Invitation to the Waltz".

ONE FOR HALL

Included in the production schedule is a picture in which Henry Hall makes his screen debut. The popular leader of the B.B.C. Dance Orchestra has brought his band, complete with crooners, to Elstree, where he has begun work on "Music Hath Charms". The film promises to be both tuneful and amusing and sets a new standard in screen fantasy.

It is based on an original story by L. du Gard Peches, and shows the effect of Henry Hall's music on people all over the world.

The famous band leader will introduce many new numbers, and is bringing to the screen for the first time Hildegarde, the famous Continental singer, who seems likely to create a furore in films.

Paul Stein has just completed a further week's work on "My Heart's Delight", Richard Tauber's second film for B.I.P.

Tauber, as "Steidler", an Austrian singer who enjoys great popularity locally, holds everyone enthralled by his marvellous rendering of "Vienna, City of my Dreams", and a number of beautiful German folk songs. The film promises to enhance Tauber's already great screen popularity.

It is in the "Heuringer" that a rich English girl, played by Leonora Corbett, first meets "Steidler". She is in search of a tenor to sing in the new opera composed by Carl Harbord, who plays her friend, and immediately she hears "Steidler" she realises that her quest is over. "Steidler" is not anxious to leave the biergarten and his little sweetheart, but she over-rides his objections and he is finally persuaded to go to London.

WELL ON AT WELWYN.

Production is well advanced on "Honours Easy", the fifth production on present schedule which is being directed by Herbert Brenon at the Welwyn Studios.

"Honours Easy" is a strong marital drama with a background of conflicting love and revenge. The full cast (Greta Nissen, Patric Knowles, Ivan Samson, Margaret Lockwood, George Graves, W. H. Berry, Dorothy Bouchier, Edward Ashley and Jimmy Godden).

The sixth of the present productions, "I Love my Heart in Heidelberg", is now nearing completion at the Elstree studios. It is directed by Otto Kuratnik and is a lively musical romance set in the famous German University centre during the early part of the last Riviera bound, Grace Moore left New York last week, taking with her for her vacation abroad, a goodly share of the production clothes she wears in "Love Me Forever", her second Columbia musical just completed. Prominent among the Kalloch creations selected by Miss Moore is a hostess gown—gauzy rose and silver tulle worn over white and silver lamé, underdress. Softly draped into the high waistline, the gown shows several floating panels which are amiable to wind, Eastern manner, around head and shoulders.

Other originals the singer took a fancy to are a cocktail suit in black velvet, jacket with flaring peplum, deep collar and huge matching muff of silver fox (eight skins worth)—a black velvet luncheon dress with scalloped hemline, short-in-front-long-in-back peplum, collar and cuffs of dead white Venetian lace—and rust wool coat dress trimmed with natural lynx.

Silver fox and lynx are only two of the furs the star wears in "Love Me Forever". In addition, there's the white gilette for a ski jacket, grey kimmer for a street cape, leopard skin for brief case bag and trim on a bottle green velvet suit, ermine for a tiny muff, chinchilla for an evening wrap and black broadtail for a coat.

Miss Moore takes along several other originals Kalloch did for her personal wardrobe. These included a number of gay, prints with full, backed wool, swaggy, coats matching background colour of the print, a beach frock of hand-blocked linen in yellow, orange, black and white, and a formal dinner dress of navy sapphire with cascading ruffles on skirt, ribbon straps, and elbow length matching cape, all over ruffled.

Four and one-half pounds of raw meat is an item which appears in the daily production cost sheet of "The Black Room Mystery". The meat is provided for the huge Great Dane, Thor, which provides much of the menace in Karloff's spine-chilling drama. Thor weighs 140 pounds and has a lusty appetite.

Claudette Colbert is putting the finishing touches on her new Beverly Hills home, and in between times, visiting Columbia Studios for conferences on her new picture, "She Married Her Boss". Claudette, winner of the Academy Award for the best screen performance by an actress last year in Capra's "It Happened One Night", is keeping her fingers crossed. She believes Columbia to be her lucky studio—and who knows but that Miss Colbert may be the first screen player ever to win the award twice? Gregory La Cava will direct "She Married Her Boss".

Ann Southern planned back from her vacation in New York in navy linen suit with pink as her accessory colour even down to the camellia she wore on her lapel.

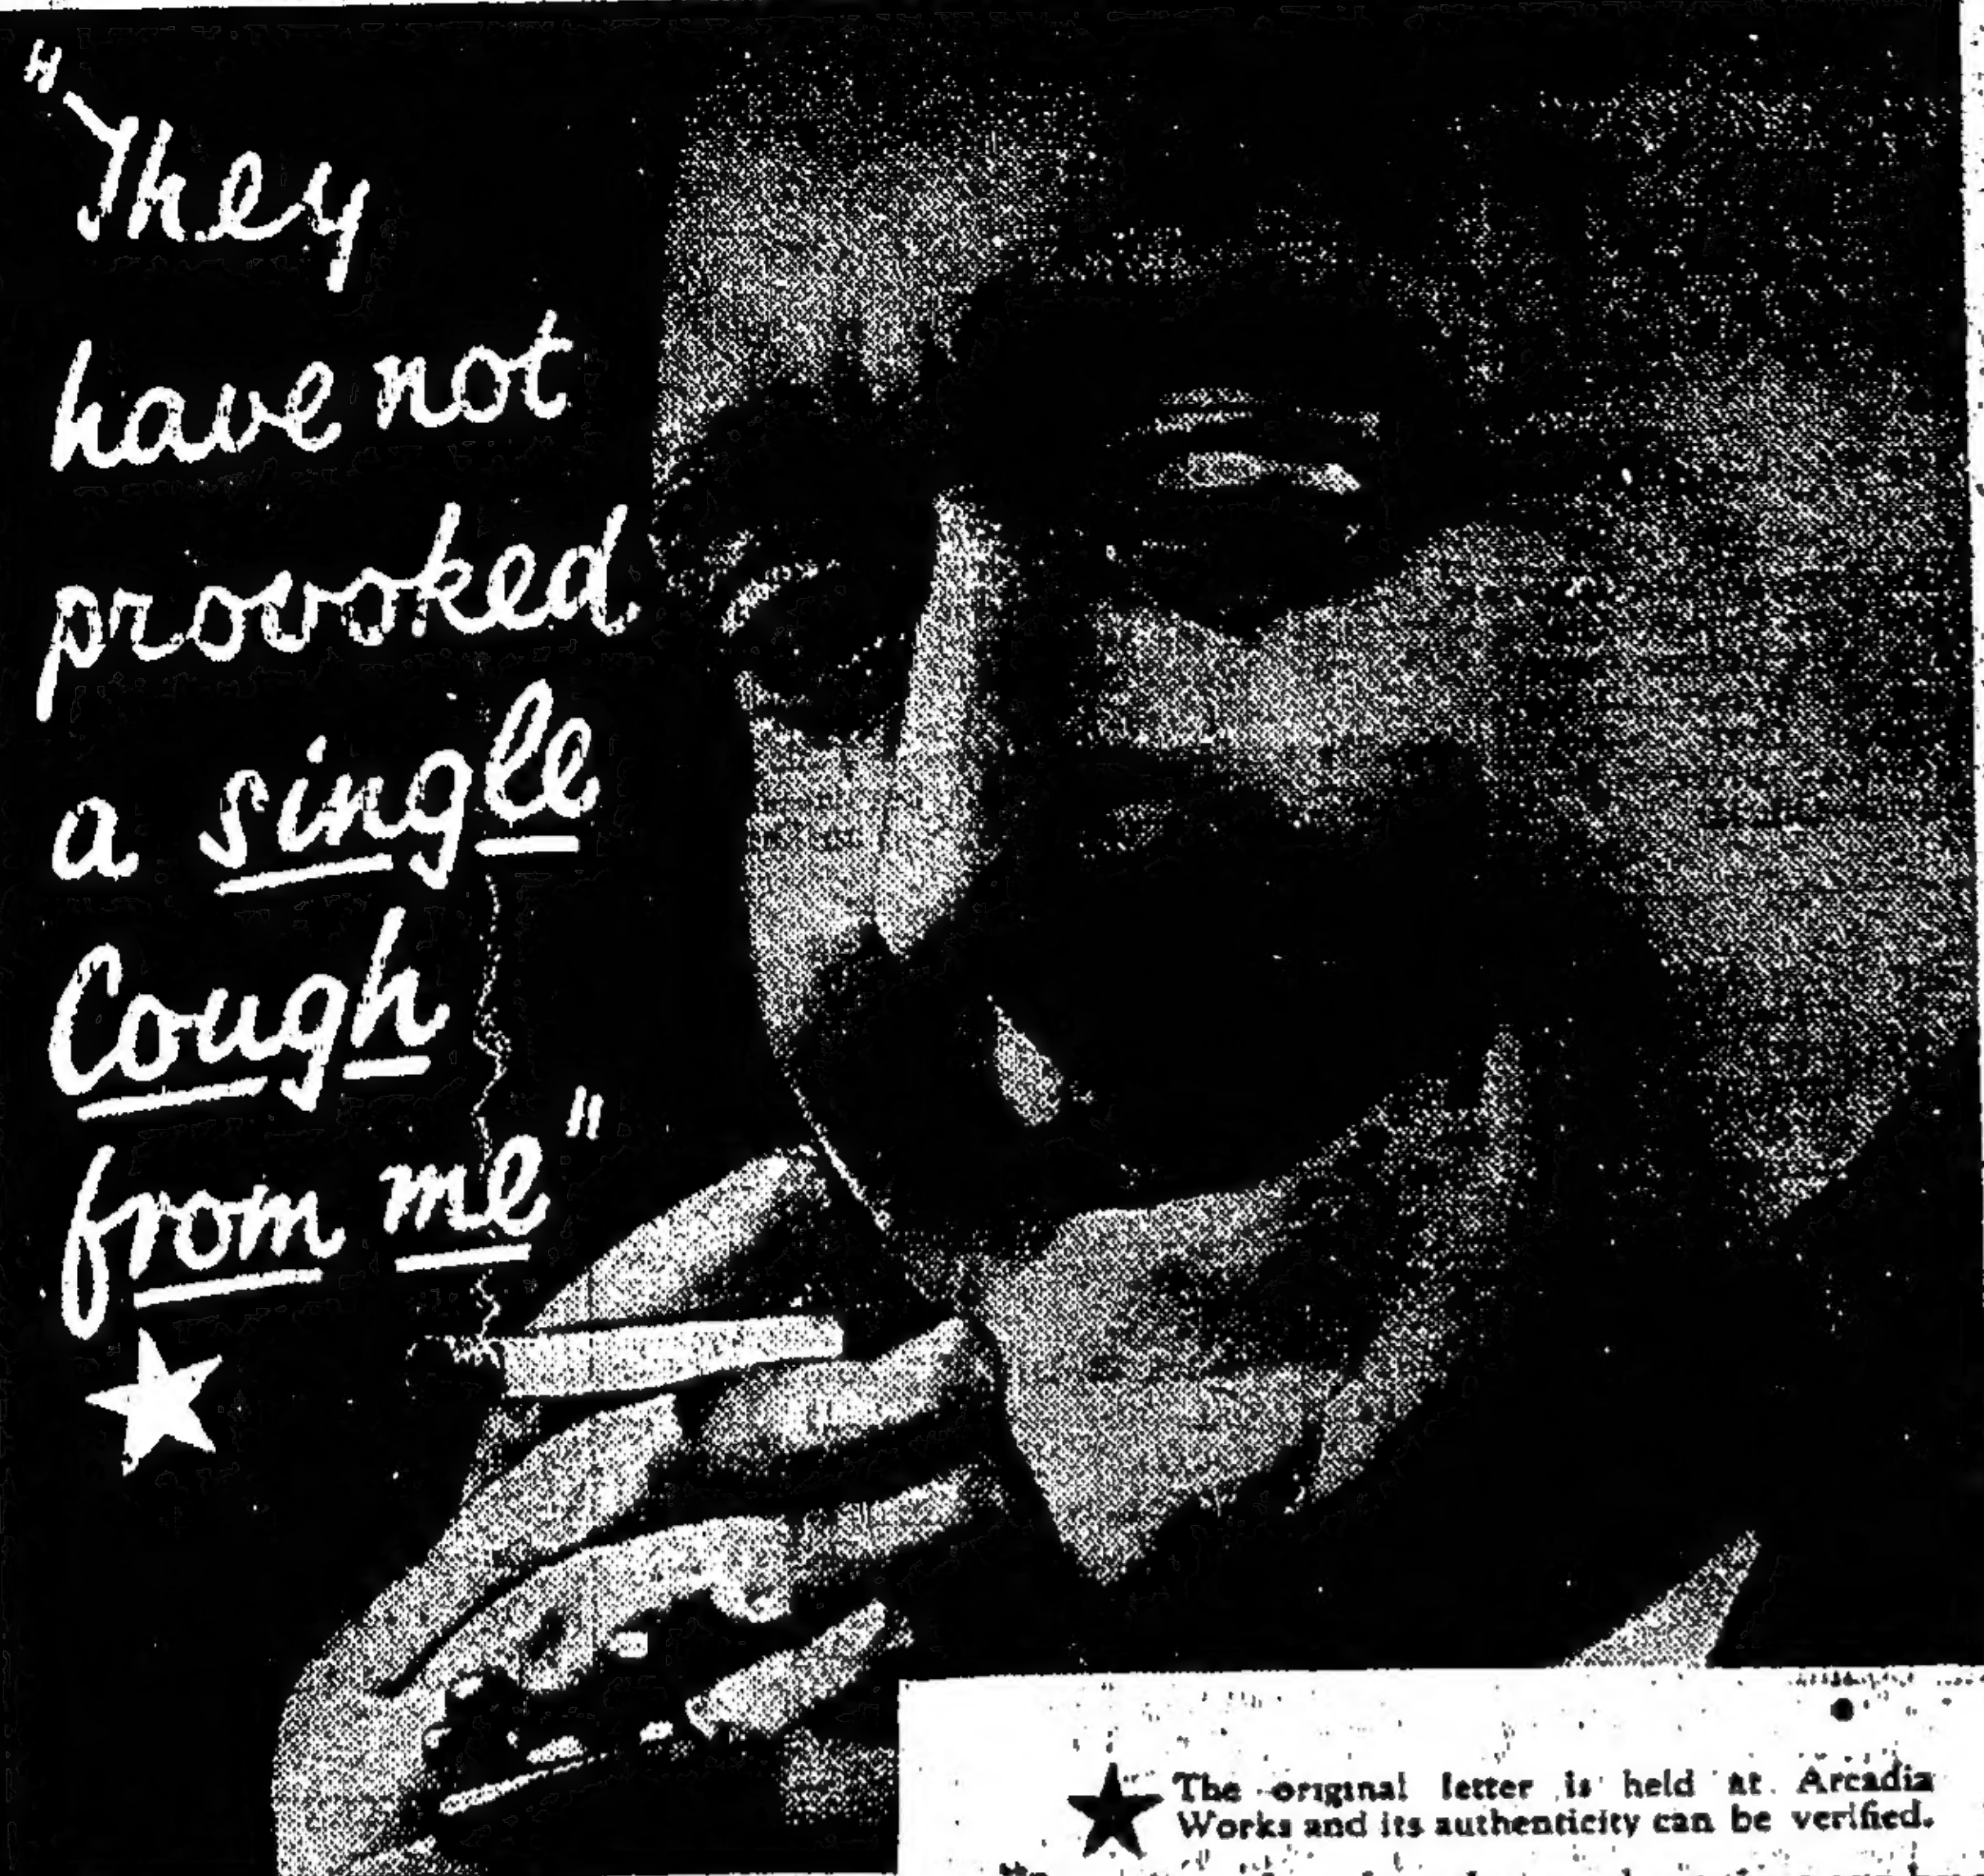

Robert Allen's new home at Las Tunas beach isn't seeing much of him these days. No sooner had he finished his role in Grace Moore's "Love Me Forever", than Bob was cast in Karloff's "The Black Room Mystery". He's seeing little of California's vaunted sunshine except on Sundays.

Walt Disney has officially become a contributor to the proper development of royalty. The King of Slime, ten years old and now going to school at Lausanne, Switzerland, has received and accepted a number of Mickey Mouse picture books sent him by Disney.

From the "Attache's Office of H. M. The King of Slime" comes the following acknowledgment:

"Sir,
"His Majesty the King, my Sovereign, has instructed me to acknowledge receipt of your letter of March 30, 1935, and of the books which you have so kindly sent to him. His Majesty has appreciated them very much and expresses his thanks.

FOR KARLOFF NEW DIRECTOR

THRILLER

Katherine De Mille

Katherine De Mille, adopted daughter of the famous motion picture producer and director, has been signed by Columbia Pictures for an important role in "Black Room Mystery," the Boris Karloff starring vehicle, now in production under the direction of Roy William Neill. Marian Marsh has the leading feminine role. Robert Allen and John Buckler have already been signed for this feature.

Although adopted by Cecil De Mille when she was nine years of age, Miss De Mille's screen career is not the result of her adoption. She started as an extra and has worked her way up. Not until she had made good, earning a number of roles of increasing importance, did her adopted father offer her a part in "Cleopatra." She astounded the whole Motion Picture industry by refusing the assignment.

After her performance in "Viva Villa," "Belle of the Nineties," "All the King's Horses" and "Call of the Wild," De Mille offered her the second lead in "The Crusades." But he had to convince her that kinship played no part in the transaction, before she accepted. "Black Room Mystery" is her first picture for Columbia.

JUDITH ALLEN IS MRS. JACK DOYLE

Jack Doyle, the Irish heavy-weight has been secretly married to Miss Judith Allen, the film star, at Akua Chalten, Mexico, it is learned.

They announced their engagement in Hollywood yesterday.

It was understood then that they would be married in June.

For Miss Colbert

Gregory LaCava, one of the most popular of the screen's veteran directors, responsible for such recent successful productions as "Affairs of Cellini" and "What Every Woman Knows," has been engaged to direct Claudette Colbert in her next Columbia starring vehicle titled "She Married Her Boss." The story is from the pen of Thyra Samter Winslow. Sidney Buchman is now working on the screen treatment.

This will be Miss Colbert's second picture for the company. The first was the sensational success "It Happened One Night," in which she was co-starred with Clark Gable. It was with this production that Columbia virtually made a clean sweep of the 1934 Academy Awards, and Miss Colbert took the first prize for the best performance by an actress during the year.

PREVIOUS SUCCESSES

LaCava, former newspaper cartoonist and pioneer in the field of animated cartoons, started his picture career as a writer in 1922, but he soon graduated to the megaphone. The success he attained as a director in the silent days has been greatly enhanced since pictures became articulate. Mr. LaCava has directed for all the large producing companies, since making "Womanhandled," his first full-length feature. "Let's Get Married," "Say It Again," "Running Wild," "The Gay Defender," "Half a Bride" and "Saturday's Children" are a few of his early pictures. More recently he brought to the screen "Gabriel Over the White House," "Bed of Roses" and "Gallant Lady."

GEORGE RAFT'S NEXT

George Raft, shortly to go on holiday, is to play the leading role in "Dance Director," an original story, on his return. Raft, whose latest pictures have been "Limelight Blues" and "Rumba," has just completed "The Glass Key."

A new impression of... The Wedding Night, released through United Artists.

POWELL AND MYRNA LOY REUNITED

William Powell and Myrna Loy are holding a reunion in Vienna as co-stars in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's glamorous romance "Masquerade," which Robert Z. Leonard is filming against the background of the gay European capital. In the new picture, Powell portrays the debonair role of a famous artist whose fame for romantic conquests rivals his professional acclaim. Miss Loy, in a fresh characterization, plays the part of a native country girl.

PARAMOUNT WIN CAMERA AWARDS

For the fifth year in succession Paramount cameramen have won the Annual Award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences for excellence of photography.

With Berry A. The South Pole, won the Bronze Medal for Best Photography in 1934. In 1935, "The Sign of the Cross" won it for 1934-35. In 1936, "The Sign of the Cross" won it for 1935-36. In 1937, "The Sign of the Cross" won it for 1936-37. In 1938, "The Sign of the Cross" won it for 1937-38. In 1939, "The Sign of the Cross" won it for 1938-39. CINEMA TRADE NOTICES

THE GREAT FLIRTATION

Wit, pungent humour and savage irony are the principal ingredients in Gregory Ratoff's amusing story of the ludicrous adventures and misunderstandings that occur in theatrical marriages. This story, filmed by Paramount under the title of "The Great Flirtation," is showing to-day at the Alhambra Theatre, Kowloon. It is a Charles R. Rogers production.

Cast in the principal roles are Elissa Landi and Adolphe Menjou, who, as a favourite stage star, renders perhaps the most audacious and delightful performance of his long and variegated career. Opening with a furious courtship and marriage in Hungary, the action soon moves to America, where Menjou and Miss Landi emigrate in search of fame.

Fame is singularly unresponsive to their importunities until Miss Landi unleashes her charms on a Broadway producer and a playwright, the latter played by the personable David Manners.

KISS AND MAKE-UP

In his new picture, "Kiss and Make-Up," Cary Grant, Mae West's "tall, dark and handsome" has two leading ladies. They are Genevieve Tobin and Helen Mack, who, with the thirteen Wampas Baby Stars of 1934, are featured in Paramount's "Kiss and Make-Up" opening to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre.

The film presents Cary Grant as the owner and chief doctor of a modern temple of beauty to which the entire feminine population flock for his treatments. He falls in love with one of his most perfect creations, Genevieve Tobin and marries her. His bliss, however, is completely ruined when he comes face to face with the effects of his stringent beauty regulations. He realizes she is just a creation of powder and make-up, and leaves her for his less beautiful but more sympathetic secretary, Helen Mack. Edward Everett Horton turns in an excellent performance in a comedy role.

PREVIEW

It's A Small World

"It's A Small World" the latest Fox production starring Wendy Barrie and Spencer Tracy will soon have its premier in the Colony.

The picture throughout has as its theme the delicate love that sprang up between these two stars. Miss Barrie was running away from her home in the care of her sister who had been divorced on three occasions. Spencer Tracy on his way to duck shooting smashes into her car in a thunderstorm. Complications arise when both refuse to give in until finally both sleep in the cars to be awakened next morning by the handyman of the nearest town who happens to be a "jack of all trade."

Miss Barrie is furious and not a little stubborn. Tracy finally cures her of it and together both go on a hunting trip. Then comes the love scenes and through an accident the mechanic finds a divorce paper which he mistakes for Miss Barrie's.

Disappointed, Tracy is about to let her go when by a "brainwave" the handy-man fixes matters right and all ends happily.

In between the scenes are some beautiful sights of a huntman's paradise. Comic and relief are added to the show. On the whole the picture is fair.

"Pardon My Pups," a short was screened with the picture and it has for its star none other than Little Shirley Temple.—O.M.O.

MOST PRECIOUS THING IN LIFE

Dick Cromwell plays the first unsympathetic role of his career in Columbia's "Most Precious Thing in Life," now showing at the Star Theatre.

Hitherto, Dick had been cast in more or less heroic roles. In his latest he is seen as a young college boy, who, before his reformation sets in, is a snobbish, conceited upstart.

"Most Precious Thing in Life," is a screen adaptation of the original novelette "Biddy" written by Travis Ingham. It tells the story of two generations of the Kelsey family, with Dick the boy of the modern period. The story starts when his father first meets his mother.

Father and mother are played by Donald Cook and Jean Arthur, with the latter in the principal role of the picture.

While Cook is in college he meets and marries Jean, a clerk in a drug store. After marriage, Jean Leslie Howard, the English actor who in the film "The Red Pimpernel" made himself world-famous and who now shall play in the realisation of Harvey Allen's novel "Anthony Adverse," and Colonel Lawrence's role in a film which shall describe the romantic life of the latter.

LILLI DAMITA'S JUMP TO FAME

Exchanging odd experiences with Jack Buchanan and other members of the cast during the filming of "Brewster's Millions," British and Dominion's musical farce produced by Herbert Wilcox for release through United Artists, Lilli Damita related the amazing story of how she rocketed to fame on a three-year-old picture.

Lilli made a film called "Red Heels" in Vienna. Three years later the picture was shown in the United States. Samuel Goldwyn, who was searching for a new leading lady for the Ronald Colman-Vilma Banky team, saw it flew to Paris, signed up Lilli and brought her back to Hollywood—and fame!

finds that her in-laws are doing their best to break up their union and, after the baby is born, gives her husband the divorce he now wants. Persuaded that his wealthy grand parents can give the boy more out of life than she can, she allows them to keep the child.

Twenty years later he is a student in the college where she now is a janitress. She sees that he has grown up to be a snob, spoiled, weak-willed and lazy. Without disclosing her identity, she works on the boy until, when he graduates from the school, he is remade into a likeable, strong-minded young man.

Anita Louise, also featured in the production, has the role of Dick's sweetheart in the modern sequences. Lambert Hillyer directed.

THE QUEEN'S

Before Midnight

"Before Midnight," which is having its run at the Queen's Theatre will please fans who crave for mystery and excitement.

It is one of the most thrilling mystery dramas yet screened and it shows Ralph Bellamy as the detective who tracks down the perpetrators of the murders which are committed at various stages in the picture.

One will find it hard to solve the mystery as one sees it and it is a delight to watch and see how it is all solved by the smart sleuth as he unravels the mystery.

June Collyer supplies the romantic part of it and others in the cast to make up this delightful mystery thriller are Claude Gillingwater, Betty Blythe, Arthur Pierson and others.—O.M.O.

ROBERT DONAT TO PLAY IN "CAPTAIN BLOOD"

Dwight Franklin, New York artist and one of the greatest living experts in the lore of pirates and buccaners, will be special technical adviser during Warner Bros.' forthcoming production of "Captain Blood," from the famous romance by Rafael Sabatini. Robert Donat, popular English actor, will play the title role. He is expected to arrive in New York early next month and will proceed at once to Hollywood to begin the film. "Captain Blood" will be directed by Michael Curtiz.

Marlene Dietrich is back in Hollywood again after a short vacation in New York where she viewed many Broadway plays. At present she is discussing future story possibilities with Paramount's new production head.

GERMAN POWDER FACTORY

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14. Early this morning the dull glow of flames still marks the scene of one of the most tragic disasters in recent German history.

The greater part of the biggest and most modern explosive works in this country is in ruins, and it is estimated that 52 are dead.

So thorough is the official secrecy surrounding the tragedy—a great cordon of Reichwehr, storm troopers and Labour corps men surround the scene—that fantastic stories of an enormous death-roll were soon spread.

WE FOUGHT

That Is Forgotten

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14.

German soldiers, sailors and airmen who fought against Great Britain in the war are eager to welcome a British Legion deputation—a plan to which the Prince of Wales gave his backing.

Arrangements have already been made for Major Featherston Godley, British Legion chairman, and Colonel Crossfield, former chairman and a member of the National Executive Council, to visit Germany in a few weeks' time.

The Prince's gesture of friendship has been warmly received throughout Germany. In France, on the other hand, the reception has been cool, though without comment.

This was his statement to the 2,000 delegates at the British Legion Conference in the Queen's Hall, London:—

"I feel that there could be no more suitable body or organisation of men to stretch forth the hand of friendship to the Germans than we ex-Servicemen who fought them in the Great War and have now forgotten all about that."

PRESERVING PEACE

General Goering, at his home in the Bavarian Mountains, told Reuter last night:—

"If the Prince of Wales said that, then it can indeed be welcomed. This would be perfectly in line with the Leader's policy and would help to preserve world peace."

Herr von Ribbentrop (Hitler's special envoy), who was in London last week, said: "Ex-Servicemen will certainly be heartily welcomed by German ex-Servicemen and by the German people."

"Experience of the meeting of ex-Servicemen has shown us there is no better way of promoting good feeling than an open and straight-forward contact between people who have seen the fighting line."

Dr. Hermann Coubushouse, of the German National Union of Wounded Ex-Servicemen, gave the views of German Ex-Servicemen on the proposal.

"We welcome the suggestion very warmly," he said. "It is an ideal step towards better relations between Britain and Germany."

"I shall be there to welcome them when they arrive, together with other leaders of this and similar organisations."

"We are definitely of the opinion that the reunion will be in every way valuable," he concluded, "and now we shall look forward to their arrival."

The Prince revealed at the London meeting that the proposed visit was first mentioned to him a few days ago by Major-General Sir F. Maurice, president of the Legion.

General Sir Ian Hamilton said yesterday: "It is the finest suggestion that ever was made. Absolutely."

"German ex-soldiers know that British ex-soldiers were not their personal enemies. They shared the same experiences. Both have a certain respect for each other. Hatred is all worn out."

JAPAN DENIES RUMOURS

Tientsin Emperor Plan

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14.

The withdrawal of Chinese forces from the Peking and Tientsin areas is followed by a report that Japan is planning to set up at Tientsin a permanent residence for the Emperor Kang Teh of Manchukuo.

Japanese officials deny the story. Kang Teh, when a child was Emperor of China under the name of Pu Yi. He abdicated in 1912 at the age of six and the royal family left Peking.

When Manchuria was brought under Japanese domination Pu Yi was enthroned as Emperor in a ceremony at the "Temple of Heaven" at Changchun, the capital.

JAPANESE "LAWRENCE" The man behind the scenes in the establishment of the new State of Manchukuo was Major-General Doihara, the Japanese "Lawrence of Manchuria."

To-day he left Changchun for Peking on a new mission.

He is going to see that the Japanese demands accepted by China are carried out.

Meanwhile Colonel Shirani Hashimoto, of the Japanese War Office, denied to-day that Japan is planning to set up a new buffer State in North China.

AROUND THE COURTS

DEATH ENQUIRY

The circumstances surrounding the death of James Thomas Scarlett, acting engineer-in-chief in the Chinese Maritime Customs service, who was found shot dead in a cabin of the Customs cruiser Hai Hsing on the night of June 29 last, were investigated into at a Coroner's enquiry held at Central Magistracy yesterday.

Mr. Q. A. Macfadyen, who sat as the Coroner was assisted by a jury comprising of: Messrs. A. B. Henry (foreman), R. Schmidt and J. F. Pereira.

Evidence heard was to the effect that deceased was a very worried man, owing to his work. A. S. P. Murphy conducted the inquest on behalf of the Police.

Sydney Barwick, Commander of the Customs cruiser, Hai Hsing, was the first called to give evidence. He said that the "Hai Hsing" arrived here from Taisan on Thursday last. Deceased was an official passenger on board. His cabin was the saloon and witness saw him for 13 or 14 years. He was married his wife being at present in Shanghai. Deceased was quiet and friendly but he seemed to be quieter than his normal self during the few days preceding the tragedy.

THE DISCOVERY

On the day of the tragedy, witness went out in the afternoon to come ashore. When he returned at about 11 p.m. deceased was found in witness's bed room dead. The revolver found at the deceased's side was that of witness's, which was his service revolver.

Before witness went ashore with another officer of the cruiser, deceased had asked permission to be allowed to stay on the deck outside witness's cabin.

F. W. Crowther, Commander, R.N. (retired) gave evidence as to the discovery of deceased's body.

L. R. Carroll, coast inspector, said that that deceased was very worried for a period before the tragedy. Witness has constantly been with deceased for 5 years, although he had known him for about 11 years. Witness and deceased had been inspecting coast light houses together.

Cheung Ah Ting, a boy of the commander of the "Hai Hsing" was next called. He deposed that on the night of incident, deceased was sitting on a deck chair reading a book. Deceased had ordered witness to bring some wine and dinner which was done.

Deceased asked when the Commander would be back and did not say anything usual.

At this stage, His Worship adjourned the hearing to June 10 at 2.30 p.m.

TRAFFIC SUMMONS

Before Mr. W. Schofield at Central Magistracy yesterday R. Spera, owner of private car No. 2322 was summoned for driving without due care and caution on Island Road near Repulse Bay Hotel on July 16.

The complainant W. R. Hillier, Sub-Inspector, British of the Traffic Department prosecuted.

W. R. Hillier, in the witness box said that at about 6.30 p.m. on June 16, he was driving his car No. 3984 from Stanley towards Aberdeen, and when passing Repulse Bay Hotel, car No. 2322 overtook and passed him on the right side. Witness did not notice the speed he was driving at, but he thought it was about 20 miles per hour. A collision was only averted by witness applying on the brakes.

DEFENDANT'S STORY

The defendant stated that on June 16, last at about 6.45 p.m. or 7, he was coming back from Beach Road to his house at Morrison Gap Road with two passengers in his car. He could not recollect going up to the Hotel on that day or remember that he saw complainant and his car. Witness dropped the other passenger at The Star Ferry at about 7.20 p.m.

The hearing was then adjourned to 2.30 p.m. on Friday next.

POSSESSION OF COUNTERFEIT COINS

At the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon before Mr. Thomson the case against the four men charged with possession of counterfeit coins and also materials for making coins was continued. Mr. Hing Shing Lo reserved his cross-examination of the principal witness of No. 39 Po Kong Road, 1st floor who gave evidence at the previous hearing. Detective Sub-Inspector R. Cunningham gave evidence and was cross-examined by Mr. Lo. After which the case was adjourned till Thursday.

LAN TAU MURDER RECALLED

Mr. G. S. Kennedy Skipton, District Officer South, yesterday committed to Sessions The Tam (36), poultry keeper who appeared before him on a remanded charge of the murder of Chan Hang Tuk (35), fisherman of Tong Fuk Village, Lantau Island, in the early hours of June 11.

Mr. J. A. Fraser, Assistant Attorney General conducted the case for the Crown.

Evidence was continued for the Crown by L. S. J. L. Stevens who said that he was one of two officers on No. 2 Police launch. On the day of the murder, they were anchored off Lung Toon Island. On receiving word of the crime, he proceeded to Tong Fuk Village, where he entered the hut in question, and he saw a Chinese male lying face downwards across the doorway. One other Chinese male, who was sitting in a squatting attitude holding an axe in his hand, was in the hut. He rose on witness's entry and said something in Chinese, which the latter did not understand.

The injured man was then placed on a stretcher, and a coverlet which had been lying at his feet, was utilised to cover the man. Wireless messages were then sent to Cheung Chau Island, in response to which acting Sub-Inspector Darkin appeared on the scene.

INSPECTOR'S EVIDENCE

Acting Sub-Inspector Darkin said he received a wireless message on the morning of June 11, a few minutes before 8 a.m. He immediately set out with Dr. Tee to Kong Fuk Village, where on arrival he saw Sgt. Stevens, with the accused.

Witness then went into the hut he saw a dead man lying on a stretcher under a coverlet. An axe was lying on the bed. Nothing was disturbed in the hut, and later that day he conducted Inspector Eston to the scene of the crime. A Chinese detective was placed on guard outside the hut until the arrival of Inspector Elston in the afternoon.

Inspector A. H. Elston, of the Detective Staff, Central Police Station, gave corroborative evidence, stating that when he entered the hut he saw a Chinese male lying on a stretcher partly covered. It was dressed in a singlet and trousers, the former garment having traces of dried blood on it. There were wounds on the head, and bruises on the face of the dead man, but otherwise there were no other marks on the body. There was a pool of blood on the floor while several articles in the room were splashed with blood. The size of the room, witness said was 15 feet by 12 feet, and was made of brick and tile. A belt belonging to the dead man was found to contain a $5 note, two silver dollars and one ten cent piece. There were no blood stains on the accused, who was later taken to the Central Police Station and formally charged. The body of the dead was identified as Tse Tam, by Chan Ping Tak, brother of the deceased.

NO QUESTIONS

After further evidence was taken, accused was asked if he had any questions but he replied in the negative.

The case for the prosecution closed with the evidence of a Chinese Police interpreter, who said that he took down accused's statement word for word in Chinese then translated same into English. This was read out to the accused, who acknowledged having made the statement. He was then committed to appear at the Supreme Court at the next Criminal Sessions.

CHOPPING CASE

Further evidence was heard before Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy on the case of Wong Hop who was charged for wounding with the intent to maim or disable his wife Ng Shing the complainant. Wong Hop asked to have his son Wong Yick On aged 7 give evidence for the defence, when his Worship made the child understand the difference between right and wrong, and the importance of telling the truth before he was questioned. At the conclusion of the evidence the defendant was committed to stand his trial at the next Criminal Sessions.

TRADE MARKS CASE

When he appeared before Mr. Macfadyen yesterday, on behalf of the United States Drug Store, Mr. M. K. Lo made a strong plea for the re-opening of the case in which the Sino-German Dispensary of 84, Wing Lok Street were summoned unsuccessfully two weeks ago.

The summons against defendants were that they used a name "Sinkelin", so nearly resembling the mark belonging to complainant's "Sinkelin" as to be calculated to deceive.

Mr. Hin Shing Lo, instructed by Mr. P. I. Zimmern, appeared for the defendants.

Mr. M. K. Lo submitted that under the Merchandise Ordinance, an offence had clearly been committed. He quoted several authorities in support of his submission and application. There was the greatest possible difference between an action for infringement and an action for passing-off. He suggested that His Worship had not given sufficient appreciation to the rights of an owner of a registered trade mark. Words which were merely descriptive could not be registered as a trade mark. His application was based on law as well as fact.

Mr. Hin Shing Lo submitted that the two words were not invented words, but general expressions, and capable of several meanings. He was not there to oppose the application, but to protect his client's interests.

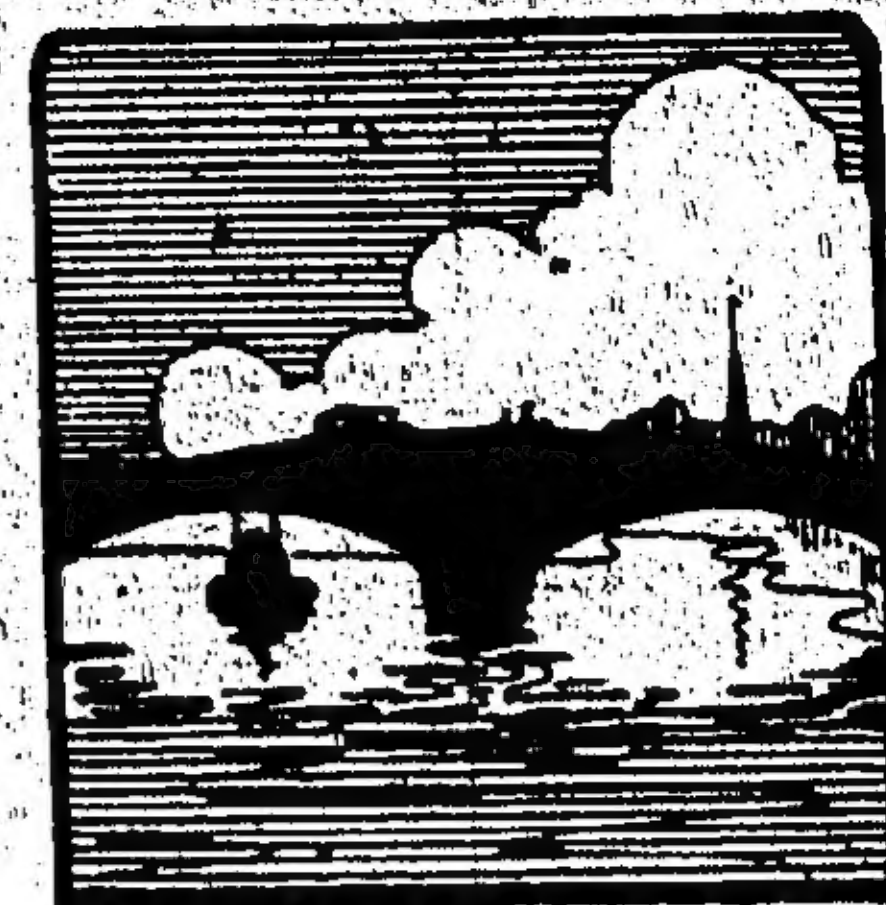

His Worship adjourned the application for one week when he will give his decision.

When Ng Sing, aged 53, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy yesterday on a charge of stealing a blanket from 5, Bridges Street, the property of Cheng Yan Po, a clerk, he was sentenced to 3 weeks hard labour. Defendant was seen entering a pawnshop by a detective, who questioned him, and defendant took him to the address, and admitted having stolen the blanket, which was valued at $10.

Sentence of two months hard labour was passed on Chan Kwai by Mr. Wynne-Jones yesterday when Chan answered a charge of breaking into 159 Fa Yuen Street, ground floor, and stealing two brass vases, the property of Lo Kwai Lan, married woman. Detective-Sergeant Allen stated that defendant was seen coming out of the premises with a parcel, by an amah who had just returned from market. An alarm was raised and

For stealing nine live pigeons from a pigeon loft at No. 284 Prince Edward Road on Sunday, Wu Muk Ching, 35, unemployed, was brought before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday and sentenced to two months' hard labour. Inspector Chester-Woods stated that about 4 a.m. on Sunday defendant was seen by a detective, he had with him a basket in which were the pigeons. Defendant when questioned admitted that he had stolen the pigeons. Mr. D'Almada, of No. 284 Prince Edward Road, was the complainant.

Making their second appearance before Mr. S. F. Balfour, at the Central Magistracy yesterday Tam King, 20, of Macao, and Chan Kam, 20, of Nam Hoi, were fined $20, or, in default, three weeks' hard labour each, on a charge of soliciting in the Wanchai district on Sunday. The two girls were stated to have accosted Sub-Inspector B. Thorpe at the junction of Luard Road and Johnston Road. Tam King was said to have taken the Inspector to an address in Lee Tung Street, while the second girl who accosted the Inspector later took him to another address.

FAITH UNSHAKEN BY THE DEPRESSION

The Bank Of East Asia's New Home

The latest addition to the Colony's modern buildings, the new home of the Bank of East Asia, Ltd., known as the B.E.A. Building, was officially opened yesterday morning to business when before a very large gathering of businessmen of the Colony Mr. Li Koon Chun (vice chairman) of the Bank, in the absence of the Chairman (Sir Shou-son Chow), delivered the address of welcome.

The directors Messrs. P. K. Kwok, Wong Yun Tong, Chan Ching Shek, Li Lan Sang, Wong Chu Son, Kan Yung Po, Ken Tong Po (Chief Manager) and Li Tse Fong (Manager) welcomed the hundreds of guests who were served with refreshments.

The firing of a long string of crackers heralded the opening of its doors and shortly after 9 o'clock many people filed through its portals to offer felicitations to the management. Throughout the morning hundreds more called at the Bank.

The building is a magnificent edifice, 11 stories in height and is the very last word in modern structure. No efforts were spared to make it worthy of the name. An outstanding feature is the special safe deposit vault.

In welcoming the guests Mr. Li said:

Ladies and Gentlemen:—In the absence of our Chairman, Sir Shou-son Chow, I have much pleasure to extend to all of you, on behalf of the Directors and the management, a cordial welcome at this opening ceremony of the new and permanent building of the Bank of East Asia, Ltd. In doing so I wish to give you a brief history of the Bank's development. It was seventeen years ago, on November 11, 1918 when the world was rejoicing over the cessation of strife and bloodshed in Europe that a group of well-known merchants headed by Sir Shou-son Chow got together and brought into being the Bank of East Asia, Ltd. It was on this memorable day that they signed an agreement and undertook to organize this bank and supply its original capital. Their enterprise at once met with success and on January 4, 1919 the bank was formally opened with a paid-up capital of $2,000,000 at No. 2, Queen's Road Central. The first Board of Directors consisted of Sir Shou-son Chow, Messrs. Li Koon Chun, Chan Ching Shek, Kan Yung Po, Wong Yun Tong, Mok Kong, P. K. Kwok, the late Mr. Pong Wai Ting, the late Mr. Ng Tsang Luk and the late Mr. Fung Ping Shan with Mr. Kan Tong Po as its Chief Manager and Mr. Li Tse Fong its Assistant Manager.

The first few years of the bank's existence were characterized by rapid progress. In 1921 the Authorized Capital was increased to $10,000,000 with a Paid-up Capital of $5,000,000 and several well known merchants were invited to join the Board of Directors. At the same time it was found that the premises at No. 2 Queen's Road Central was inadequate to cope with the bank's growing business and eventually the present site known as Nos. 10 and 10A Des Voeux Road Central was acquired with its buildings thereon.

In 1921, after work of remodelling the building at No. 10, Des Voeux Road Central was completed the Bank moved into the old building, on the present site, and carried on its business until the summer of 1933, when it was again found that the space was barely enough to accommodate its large number of staff and to cope with the ever increasing business. Consequently the old building together with the Godown at No. 10A, Des Voeux Road Central were demolished to make room for the present new building we are in to-day.

PROGRESS AND EXPANSION

For the past seventeen years since the bank has been founded, it has run a course of steady progress and expansion, and the new building with its many new features which have been skillfully designed by our architect Mr. C. Little, will be a fitting home for the Bank for many decades of years. In this new building I hope our clients will find every facility for dealing with their daily routine business with the least possible delay, and I trust that they will continue to extend to us their esteemed co-operation in the development of business generally. The Directors in making their decision to incur this heavy expenditure to build this magnificent home are showing their faith in the future of the Colony, a faith that will remain unshaken by the present trade depression.

I do not think I shall detain you any longer by giving you full details of our new building which you will see for yourselves presently. However in view of the fact that we were the first bank to introduce the system of Safe Deposit Boxes into the Colony I wish to draw your attention to the Safe Deposit Vault on the mezzanine floor. The entrance to this vault is protected by a heavy steel circular door built by the York Safe and Lock Company.

I think the bank may be proud that such a distinguished gathering has honoured us to-day with their presence. On behalf of the Board of Directors and the management, I beg to thank you.

THE BUILDING

The tallest of all completed structures its well balanced proportions and refined details show an example of how everything that is sound and dignified in what can be termed "streamline architecture" may be distinct from eccentricity or crude novelty.

The front up to the third floor, is carried out in finely tooled white granite terminating with two copper-roofed turrets; the remaining portion of the building being finished in well matched granite plaster. The whole structure gives the impression of having been skillfully cut from one huge block of stone.

The impressive portico at the main entrance to the Bank will show a novel and pleasing feature in the application of bronze facing to walls. The massive doors to the Bank and lift lobbies and to the main stairs—as well as the fluted pilasters capped with a richly ornamental frieze and the windows and grilles are all executed in finely chased bronze imparting to the building a sense of solidity and security.

The spacious entrance lobby, separated by a glazed bronze screen with swing-doors from the banking hall, is floored and lined up to the ceiling in Italian marble. The white Carrara paving with its black border extends further into the banking hall with pleasing and restful "champanerie" and bronze counter in front of the marble faced pillars supporting the lofty 30-foot ceiling.

MARBLE WALLS

The cream coloured "champanerie" and the gold-veined black "porphyry" marble face all the walls of the banking hall up to the mezzanine floor which opens into the public space of the hall over a marble balustrade.

At the back of this mezzanine floor, the marble finished safe deposit vault is situated served by a special entrance and lift. The extra heavy concrete floor, ceiling and walls, reinforced with the latest devices in steel protection ensure complete safety for the clients of the Bank.

The most remarkable in this two floored vault, with its thousands of steel deposit boxes of the latest design, is the entrance.

This is provided with a circular door having a clear opening of 84 inches in diameter. The door is 13 inch in thickness, contains three 1/2 inch 5 ply welded chrome steel and nine 1/2 inch of open-hearth steel. It is fitted with crane hinges and double pressure system and locks with twenty-four bolts, each 3 inch in diameter, the bolt work being checked by two combination locks and a four-movement time lock.

The whole of the most intricate mechanism is exposed to view through polished plate glass forming the cover to the back of the door which weight, with its polished steel frame, is 60,000 lbs.

The York Safe and Lock Company are the manufacturers of this latest mechanical marvel which was supplied and installed by Messrs. Lane, Crawford, Ltd.

BULLION VAULT

Three massive chromium plated chandeliers, suspended from the main ceiling, with bracket lights to match on the pillars of the Hall, serve as an additional source of light diffused by the many large lateral windows.

The bullion vault, capable of storing two hundred million dollars and of the full size of the banking hall, is situated right under it in a heavily reinforced and water proofed basement well ventilated through a huge shaft going up the whole height of the building. The basement and vaults are mechanically air-dried.

The Managers' offices adjoin the entrance lobby on the ground floor, the remainder of the Bank's office rooms as well as the tea-parlour, etc., are accommodated on the mezzanine floor.

The upper floors, eleven in number, present the latest in modern office planning: from the lift lobby of each floor a tastefully tiled dadoed and paved corridor, over eight feet in width, extends the full length of the 200 feet building, being well lighted by large metal windows in one of its walls and having "natural colour" teak-wood doors of the individual offices in the other.

There are two terrazzo finished stairs, with a special chit-coolite lift in one of them, to serve as an extension to the communication facilities provided by the three main high speed lifts.

THOSE RESPONSIBLE

The contract for foundations and vault was carried out by Messrs. Lam Woo & Co., and the Raymond Concrete Pile Coy.

Messrs. Cheong Hing Coy. are the general contractors for the superstructure of this building, erected in a surprisingly short time. Mr. Raoul Bigazzi is responsible for the fine marble and bronze work. The bronze name-boards have been well executed locally by the Hong Kong & Whampoa Dock Co., Ltd. The "Richards" ceramic tiles were supplied and laid by Messrs. Lee Yu Kee, who have also supplied and laid a large quantity of mosaic manufactured by the Chinese National Electric & Pottery Co. of Shanghai. Further Messrs. Lee Yu Kee have carried out the whole of the plumbing and drainage works, the first installation having been provided by Messrs. Yue Sang Co.

Messrs. C.E. Warren & Co. have decorated the stairs in dove-grey and green terrazzo and Messrs. A. Vannini & Co. laid the non-slip tiles to the main roof incorporating a badminton court in the design.

All windows in the building are of steel, manufactured by Messrs.

THE NEW PRESIDENT

He has discharged his duties with vigour, efficiency and punctuality, and in spite of the heavy claims of his professional work and of his many other social activities, he has always given me the impression that Rotary and its business occupies a very large place in his mind; for he has always been ready to discuss its policy and activities, no matter what other things were clamouring for his attention.

On behalf of this Club and on my own behalf I, therefore, have very great pleasure in conveying to you, Rotarians, our grateful and heartfelt thanks.

QUEEN'S ROAD FIRE

Chinese Dwelling Involved

Great excitement prevailed shortly after 3.30 p.m. yesterday near the Central Theatre district when it was found that fire had started in one of the Chinese dwelling houses. The Fire Brigade arrived with six appliances and had the outbreak soon under control.

It appears that No. 247 Queen's Road, Central, a three-storied building, the first floor of which was occupied by a Chinese herbalist and a fortune teller, the second floor used as a domestic dwelling and the ground floor occupied by the Sun Wah Hat Manufacturing Co., was alight about 3.35 p.m. The fire started from the first floor and quickly spread upwards.

Fire engines were soon on the scene and had the conflagration under control by 4.10 p.m. when the "through signal" was sent out. Mr. D. Burlingham the Acting I.G.P. was early on the scene and with Mr. H. T. Brooks supervised the work of extinguishing the flames. The Emergency Unit was also present to keep the large crowds back.

Damage to the extent of $800 was sustained. The first floor was badly damaged by both fire and water while the second floor suffered more from the water than the fire. The ground floor, which was insured for $2,000, suffered badly from the effects of the water.

No casualties were reported. The inmates made their escape as soon as the alarm was given and before the fire made much progress.

The origin of the fire is so far not known.

HONG KONG, JULY 3, 1935.

A GREAT LAWYER

By the sudden death of Mr. Justice Avory the country has lost one of the greatest judges of the century. His conduct of so many famous and sensational trials, his impressive strength of personality had made him, in the mind of the man in the street, the supreme minister of avenging justice. His brethren of the Bench, and indeed the whole of the legal fraternity, have recognised for many a year that he had in ample measure far higher qualities than those which have before now sufficed to win fame of this sort. He was a very great lawyer and the high respect which he commanded may be gauged from the fact that the Lord Chief Justice said but a month ago, "when in doubt look it up in Mr. Justice Avory." He had the qualities which many great lawyers have lacked—a judicial mind of very fine temper, singularly acute in perceiving the real issues of a case and endowed with the power to rule his court. There have been many changes in legal procedure, in the manners and customs of the courts, and, not least important, in public opinion in crime and punishment during the 60 years since he was called to the Bar, and it is a striking proof of his wisdom that, deeply schooled in the old ways, and as it might seem, in sympathy with them, he was a great force in ensuring the success of the reforms. To the last day of his service through changing times, his decisions were always popular and approved by all sorts and conditions of men.

When some twenty-five years ago he was raised to the Bench, he was unanimously hailed as being superlatively qualified by his vast experience of big cases. In spite of this it is doubtful whether even the most sagacious critics foresaw the value of his services. It fell to his lot to try some of the most perplexing criminal cases of first importance and it is well-known that any judge who does his duty through such tasks is likely to give the impression of being unduly severe. Those competent to form an opinion have always dismissed the imputation with contempt and it would perhaps be sufficient to quote the dictum of that famous defender in criminal courts, Marshal, Hall, who said

WASHED INTO HARBOUR

Narrow Escape For Chinese Lad

An unusual experience, which luckily was not in any way marred by serious consequences, befel a 17-year-old Chinese lad named Yung Fong who resides at No. 23 Thompson Road, ground floor.

While playing yesterday near the lower terminus of the Peak Tramways shortly after 3.40 p.m., the lad lost his rubber ball and went down to the nullah which runs close by to retrieve same. After recovering the ball, a heavy shower of rain fell and the lad took shelter under a bridge.

Unaware of the heavy onrush of water brought about by the rain, the lad suddenly found himself caught in the torrent. He was eventually swept off his feet and carried down the nullah through the tunnel into the harbour close by the Victoria Recreation Club. Luckily for him he was able to swim a little and his cries for help were heard by the boat people there who went to his assistance.

He was sent to the Government Civil hospital suffering from abrasions received while being washed down the nullah, but his condition was not serious.

GERMAN WAR VETERANS VISIT FRANCE

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Lyons, July 1.

Fifty German war veterans who following last week's meetings at Stuttgart of French and German ex-servicemen were invited by the French "Association of War Victims with lung wounds" to visit France, arrived here on Monday for a short stay, being welcomed at the station by the delegation of French ex-servicemen.

After depositing a wreath at the War Memorial, the German visitors were given a reception at the Town Hall where the Minister, Herriot, who is also Mayor of Lyons, delivered a short speech, thanking the Germans for breaking their journey at Lyons and adding that he "fully appreciated this gesture."

After stressing the desirability of rapprochement between the two nations "of which each has its own germs and ideals and its own outlook on life, but both of which seem to be destined to make important contribution to peaceful civilisation," Herriot went on to say "If these two nations should turn their backs on each other, it would be a terrible blow for humanity. Everything should be done to prevent such catastrophe. You have done well in coming here. According to the old French proverb, 'one swallow does not make summer,' but it is necessary to have courage in being the first swallow so that the others may follow. I welcome you as one welcomes the first swallow in spring."

"If I were an innocent man I would ask to be tried by Avory."

Mr. Justice Avory's most important work, however, was done in the Court of Criminal Appeal. That tribunal was established, by no means with universal approval, of lawyers, three years before he took his seat on the Bench, but it has proved to be of infinite value and the credit for this must be given, in no small measure to Mr. Justice Avory's guidance. The Lord Chief Justice has put the debt on record. "Seldom has a judge's life work done so much to justify the confidence of the people in the even-handed justice of the law."

BULGARIAN MINISTER RESIGNS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Sofia, July 1.

The Bulgarian Finance Minister, Rysskoff handed in his resignation on his return from a journey abroad made with the object of effecting a settlement of the Bulgarian debts, refusing however to give any public statement of the reason of this step.

The view taken here is that now the whole of Tschetoff's Government will be compelled to resign since activities of the former party's political opponents are making the position more and more embarrassing.

On Sunday for instance, the Police President of Sofia was obliged to arrest a number of political leaders whose names were hitherto withheld though it is understood they belong to a circle who are all well-known, amongst them being Col. Veltsheff, who was the prime mover in the coup d'etat of May 19, last year, when he proclaimed a Dictatorship.

The order for Veltsheff's arrest is stated to have been issued by the Government but as yet is unexecuted, owing to his having fled into provinces abroad.—Transocean Kuo Min

EX-SERVICEMEN IN CONFERENCE

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Paris, July 1.

The discussions, which it is hoped will help to pave the way for the Franco-German rapprochement, were opened on Monday here between the delegation representing the various German ex-servicemen's organisations and representatives of "Fidac" that is the Federation Internationale des Anciens Combattants.

Since the discussions are of a private nature, no statement will be issued for publication before the termination of the conference which is expected to last two days.

Eighty-two delegates of all countries belonging to the "Fidac" are taking part in the deliberations while Germany is represented by five emissaries from the National Socialist War Victims Relief Organisation, the National Socialist Front Fighters League, formerly "Steehmetz," and the Kythaeuser League of War Veterans.

One of the French delegates is Deputy Jean Goy who was one of the first promoters in the meetings between the French and German ex-servicemen.—Transocean Kuo Min

BALASKAS AND LANGTON CAUSE A COLLAPSE

South Africa reaped the benefit of their declaration at 278 for 7 when they proved themselves to be complete masters of the England batsmen who collapsed against the bowling of Balaskas and Langton.

England lost their batsmen one after the other, the only stayers being Sutcliffe (38) and Hammond (27). England scored only 151 runs in their second effort and thus lost the Second Test by 157 runs.

London, July 2.

The last day of the Second Test match at Lord's was marred by unsettled weather. The covered end was not seriously affected by the severe thunderstorm in the early hours.

There were two minor casualties on the England side. Ames strained a leg muscle, but he is fielding. Sutcliffe strained his thigh and is not fielding, but he will bat.

Bowlers are making liberal use of saw dust, but all are going very steadily although the scoring is very slow.

Bruce Mitchell (129 not out) and A. B. Langton (11 not out) resumed their innings with the total of 208 for 6 before a crowd of 9,000 spectators.

MITCHELL BRILLIANT

Mitchell late cut Verity to complete 150 runs and simultaneously sent up the 250 in five hours batting.

Hammond was entrusted with the ball with the score at 268 and it was not long before he was able to get Langton caught off his own bowling. Langton scored 44, while Bruce Mitchell was 164 not out. At this stage the tourists decided to take a chance and declared with the total at 278 for seven wickets.

Bruce Mitchell, the hero of the innings, played a classic game, bringing off a variety of strokes among which his cutting and off-driving were delightful features. He batted for 336 minutes in the course of which he drove seventeen times to the boundary. He was slow in making runs latterly, his 35 runs in the morning taking 95 minutes.

ENGLAND BAT

Hart, the Middlesex player, ran for Sutcliffe, who together with Wyatt opened the innings for England. Sutcliffe led the scoring to his captain. Both held the fort until lunch time when the scores were Wyatt 11 and Sutcliffe 6 with the total at 17 without loss.

After lunch the crowd increased to 10,000. Disaster overtook England very shortly as Wyatt, in attempting to pull a short one from Balaskas, sent the ball into his wicket. He had scored 16. 24 for 1.

Leyland came in, but he did not stay long. Crisp sent down a violent delivery which swung into the wicket of the famous Yorkshire stalwart after he had scored four runs. 45 for 2.

Sutcliffe, who was joined by Hammond, appeared to be very confident, while the Gloucestershire player was holding up well against Balaskas. They kept together until tea time. Hammond was then 50 minutes at the wicket and had collected 36 runs, while Sutcliffe during his 30 minutes stay had gathered 25. The total was 85 for 2 at this stage.

FIREWORKS BY LANGTON

Hammond played Crisp, Bruce Mitchell and Balaskas very confidently. He was effortless in his off-driving and gancing to leg, but Langton pegged down the batsmen. Hammond gave Cameron a chance with a snick off Langton which was accepted, his score being 27. 39 for 3.

In the next over Sutcliffe mistimed a half volley on the leg from Langton and was beaten. He scored 38. 90 for 4.

The century was reached after 140 minutes. Ames, after scoring eight runs was l.b.w. to Langton under the new rule. 102 for 5. E. R. T. Holmes, the Surrey captain, went on to hit off blindly until a good length ball from Langton beat him when he had scored only eight runs. 111 for 6. At this stage A. B. Langton had taken four wickets for 23.

FARRIMOND BEATEN

Langridge (9) and Farrimond (6) appeared to carry on confidently, but when Langridge had scored 17 the partnership ended, Farrimond losing his off stump to Crisp with his score at 13. 129 for 7.

Nichols has joined Langridge and at tea time the score had been carried to 138 for 7. After tea Langridge was another of the many batsmen to fall a victim to the new l.b.w. rule to Balaskas. He scored 17. 141 for 8.

LAST TWO WICKETS

Nichols had scored six runs when Verity joined him, but the latter was caught by Langton off Balaskas after scoring eight runs. 149 for 9.

Mitchell of Derbyshire, last man in, was stumped by Cameron off Balaskas after scoring a single. Nichols was 7 not out and with extras yielding four the total was 151.

South Africa thus won the Second Test by 157 runs.—Reuter.

IMPENDING CLASH IN ABYSSINIA

Italy Declines British Peace Proposal

London, July 1. Britain's "sterile" offer to Italy, made in order to avert what seemed an inevitable clash between Rome and the Ethiopian Empire, and to bring about a final settlement of the dispute between these two peoples, was described by Mr. Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, in the House of Commons to-day.

Mr. Eden was rendering an account of his recent visits to Paris and Rome, during which he sought to relieve the Continental capitals of any anxiety respecting the Anglo-German naval accord and the trend of future British policy. The British proposal to Italy, he said, was that Britain should offer to Abyssinia a strip of territory in British Somaliland which would give Abyssinia access to the sea. This proposal was intended to facilitate such territorial or economic concessions by Abyssinia to Italy as might be involved.

It was agreed that Great Britain would ask nothing in the way of concessions in return for this arrangement except grazing rights for her nomadic tribes in such territory as might be ceded to Italy.

Only the gravity of the situation could justify the concession of British territory without an equivalent return, said Mr. Eden, and he much regretted that the suggestion did not commend itself to the Italian Dictator, Signor Benito Mussolini, who said he was unable to accept it as a basis of the solution to the dispute with Abyssinia.

FRANK EXPLANATION

Mr. Eden went on to explain that the object of his visit to Paris was to give to France a whole and frank explanation of the Anglo-German naval accord and also to consult with the French Government's spokesmen as to the best means of proceeding with negotiations on the matters mentioned in the London communiqué, drawn by French and English delegates, and issued on February 3.

M. Laval, the French Prime Minister, he said, had frankly explained the French view of the Anglo-German agreement. It recognised that Anglo-French collaboration was necessary in many European problems. Necessary measures to this end, in which other countries were interested, were being taken, Mr. Eden went on.

The same happy conclusion, except as regards the Abyssinian problem, resulted from his talks with Signor Mussolini, said Mr. Eden.

STREAM OF QUESTIONS

There was no reason that they should not hope that the best line of negotiations for their joint problems might not shortly be found. Although the Governments of Britain, France and Italy did not attach the same importance or urgency to all the various items on the programme, it should be possible, Mr. Eden believed, to agree upon a method whereby negotiations with other countries might be undertaken that they might unite to contribute to a solution of problems.

A stream of questions followed Mr. Eden's statement.

INFORMATION WITHHELD

Mr. Eden declared that Britain was not inspired by any egoistical motives nor by consideration of her own interests in Africa in making her offer to Italy, but, as he pointed out to Signor Mussolini, by her membership in the League of Nations upon which British policy was founded.

Mr. George Lansbury, Labour leader, immediately asked Sir Samuel Hoare, the Foreign Minister, what steps the Government proposed to take to bring pressure on European public opinion to bear upon Italy.

Sir Samuel said he would give the House the full details of discussions as soon as he was at liberty. He was withholding information because he did not want to prejudice the course Britain would like to see pursued, he said.

Mr. Lansbury said the House was anxious to safeguard itself against another fait accompli as in the case of China and Japan. Objections to the offer of a cession of British territory without discussing the matter in the House were raised in another quarter.

ITALIAN DEMONSTRATION

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, July 2, 4.30 p.m.)

Milan, July 2. Half a million men in full war equipment will take part in the forthcoming army manoeuvres in South Tyrol, writes the Milan paper "Sera," adding that this should serve as a warning to those who thought that the preparations in East Africa, for which there was only one radical solution, would in any way detract from the effectiveness of the forces remaining in the mother country.

Anybody who believed that they could stand in Italy's way or even attempt a coup-d'état in the belief that she was too occupied with the Abyssinian question, would make a bad mistake. They would not find Italy unprepared.—Transocean Kuo Min

FULLER REPORT

London, July 1. Mr. Anthony Eden, Minister for League Affairs, in reply to a question by Mr. George Lansbury, Leader of the Opposition, made a statement in the Commons regarding his recent visits to Rome and Paris. The objects of the Paris visit, he said, were to give the French Government a full and frank explanation on the subject of the Anglo-German Naval Agreement, and to consider, in consultation with the French Government, ways and means of making progress as quickly as possible with the negotiation of all matters enumerated in the London communiqué of February 3. He gave the French Minister an account of the contents of the Anglo-German Agreement and described to him the circumstances in which it was negotiated and the reasons which had led His Majesty's Government to conclude it. M. Laval explained with equal frankness the view which the French Government took of this Agreement. He also explained his view of its bearing upon various European problems, in the solution of which the two Governments are engaged.

OTHER ISSUES

It was recognised in the course of the conversation that for a settlement of these questions, such, for example, as the Air Pact and Air Limitation Eastern Pact, the Central European Pact and an agreement on land armaments, close collaboration between France and Great Britain was necessary. "These are, however, questions which do not interest France and Britain alone. We are therefore at present seeking, in conjunction with the French Government, the form of collaboration best designed to secure the fulfilment as quickly and completely as possible by all countries of the programme of the London communiqué."

"At the close of the discussion upon these same subjects, which I held subsequently with Signor Mussolini in Rome, we were happy to be able to record agreement as to the possibility of continuing to work for European appeasement in accordance with the guiding principles laid down in the London communiqué and the Stress resolution."

ITALY AND ABYSSINIA

"There is now therefore reason to hope that the best line of negotiation may shortly be found. Moreover, I cannot doubt that although the three Governments may not attach the same importance or ascribe the same urgency to all the various items of the programme, it should be possible to agree upon a method whereby, in free and equal negotiation with other Governments, they may unite to contribute to the solution of these problems."

"I now turn to the discussions between Italy and Abyssinia in regard to which I had conversations with Signor Mussolini. I expressed to Signor Mussolini the grave concern of His Majesty's Government at the turn which events were taking between Italy and Abyssinia. Our motives were

CONSTABLE KILLED

Police Clash With Strikers

Regina, Saskatchewan, July 2. A constable was killed by the strikers and fifty persons were injured while a score of others suffered the effects of tear gas as the result of a conflict of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and City Police with a mob of relief camp strikers recently arrived at Regina from British Columbia en route to Ottawa to submit grievances to the Government who received the deputation of strikers but stopped the main body at Regina.

The trouble began when the police started to disperse an open air meeting of three thousand persons held under the auspices of the strikers. Demonstrators stoned the police who threw tear gas bombs at the mob and made many arrests. After the meeting dispersed, groups of strikers reassembled and the police fired on the crowd.

Street fighting continued till late in the night. Much damage was done to property.—Reuter neither egoistic nor dictated by our interests in Africa, but by our membership of the League of Nations. I said that British foreign policy was founded upon the League. His Majesty's Government could not therefore remain indifferent to events which might profoundly affect the League's future. Upon this issue, public opinion in this country felt very strongly. It was only through collective security that, in our judgment, peace could be preserved, and only through the League that Great Britain could play her full part in Europe.

ANXIOUS STUDY

"It was for this reason that His Majesty's Government had been anxiously studying whether there was any constructive contribution which they could make in order to promote a solution. I then described to Signor Mussolini the kind of contribution which His Majesty's Government had in mind and which I was authorised to make to him as a tentative suggestion. This suggestion was, broadly speaking as follows:—To obtain a final settlement of the dispute between Italy and Abyssinia, His Majesty's Government would be prepared to offer to Abyssinia a strip of territory in British Somaliland, giving Abyssinia access to sea. This proposal was intended to facilitate such territorial and economic concessions by Abyssinia to Italy as might have been involved in an agreed settlement. His Majesty's Government would ask for no concession in return for this arrangement, save grazing rights for their tribes in such territory as might be ceded to Italy."

"This suggestion was not lightly made and only the gravity of the situation could justify a cession of British territory without an equivalent return. I much regret that this suggestion did not commend itself to Signor Mussolini, who was unable to accept it as a basis for a solution of the dispute. On my return to Paris I gave M. Laval an account of what had passed with Signor Mussolini."

Replying to a supplementary question, the Foreign Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, said he hoped to give further information later. The Government regarded the issues as very urgent and had them under their special and constant consideration.—British Wireless

SOVIET PROTEST NOTE TO JAPAN

Alleged Violations On The Amur River

Moscow, July 2.

A strongly worded note protesting against alleged violation of the Soviet frontier on the Amur River on June 27 by Manchurian gunboats has been handed to the Japanese Foreign Minister, Mr. Hirota, by the Soviet Ambassador.

The note declares that Manchurian boats, despite repeated warnings, refused to alter their course after being told that navigation in a certain channel in the river was prohibited, but instead trained their guns on Soviet patrol cutters and took photographs.

"It was only due to exceptional firmness and self-control of the Soviet crews that they did not open fire," says the note, which concludes with a warning that if Japanese-Manchurian steamers attempt forcible entry into Soviet internal waters around Santyachew Island the responsibility for the consequences will rest with the Japanese and Manchurian authorities.—Reuter

Moscow, July 2.

Commenting on the alleged violations of the Soviet frontier on the Amur River, the Press emphasised a strong desire of the Soviet for peaceful political trade relations with Japan.

The official "Izvestia" says that the Soviet are taking all possible measures to promote peaceable relations with Japan, but all the more ready to protest against the conduct of certain Japanese military authorities who are manifestly wishing to disrupt the cause of peace.

The Pravda says the Japanese Government, if really interested in the maintenance of peace in the Far East, must take speedy measures to prevent adventurous actions by the Japanese authorities at the frontier of Krasnaya-vezda.

The organ of the Commissariat defence utters a warning to anyone daring to encroach on the frontiers of the Soviet. They will receive such a rebuff that will long lose them an appetite for such adventures.—Reuter

VOTE AGAINST ROOSEVELT

Defeat Welcomed By Press

New York, July 2.

President Roosevelt's defeat in the House of Representatives by 216 to 146 votes on the Public Utilities Bill is welcomed by the majority of the Press.

The "New York Times" says it is a victory for orderly constitutional government.

The "Herald Tribune" declares that the President received a rebuke which he had invited and deserved. His purpose was unworthy and dictated by personal venom rather than national interest, and his methods dictatorial instead of democratic.

The "New York American" says that the vote was against the theory and practice of dictatorship.—Reuter

MODIFIED VERSION

Washington, July 2. The House of Representatives will now go ahead with the modified version of the Public Utilities Bill. Contrary to the President's wishes the fight over the provision objected to will be transferred to the Conference Committee of both Houses.

Directly after the vote President Roosevelt conferred with Congressman Rankin as regards the possibility of a roll call which compels every voting member to reveal his identity. This was unnecessary under the "teller" vote. Congressman Rankin predicts a success in this manoeuvre.—Reuter

COMMONS QUERY ON NORTH CHINA

London, July 2.

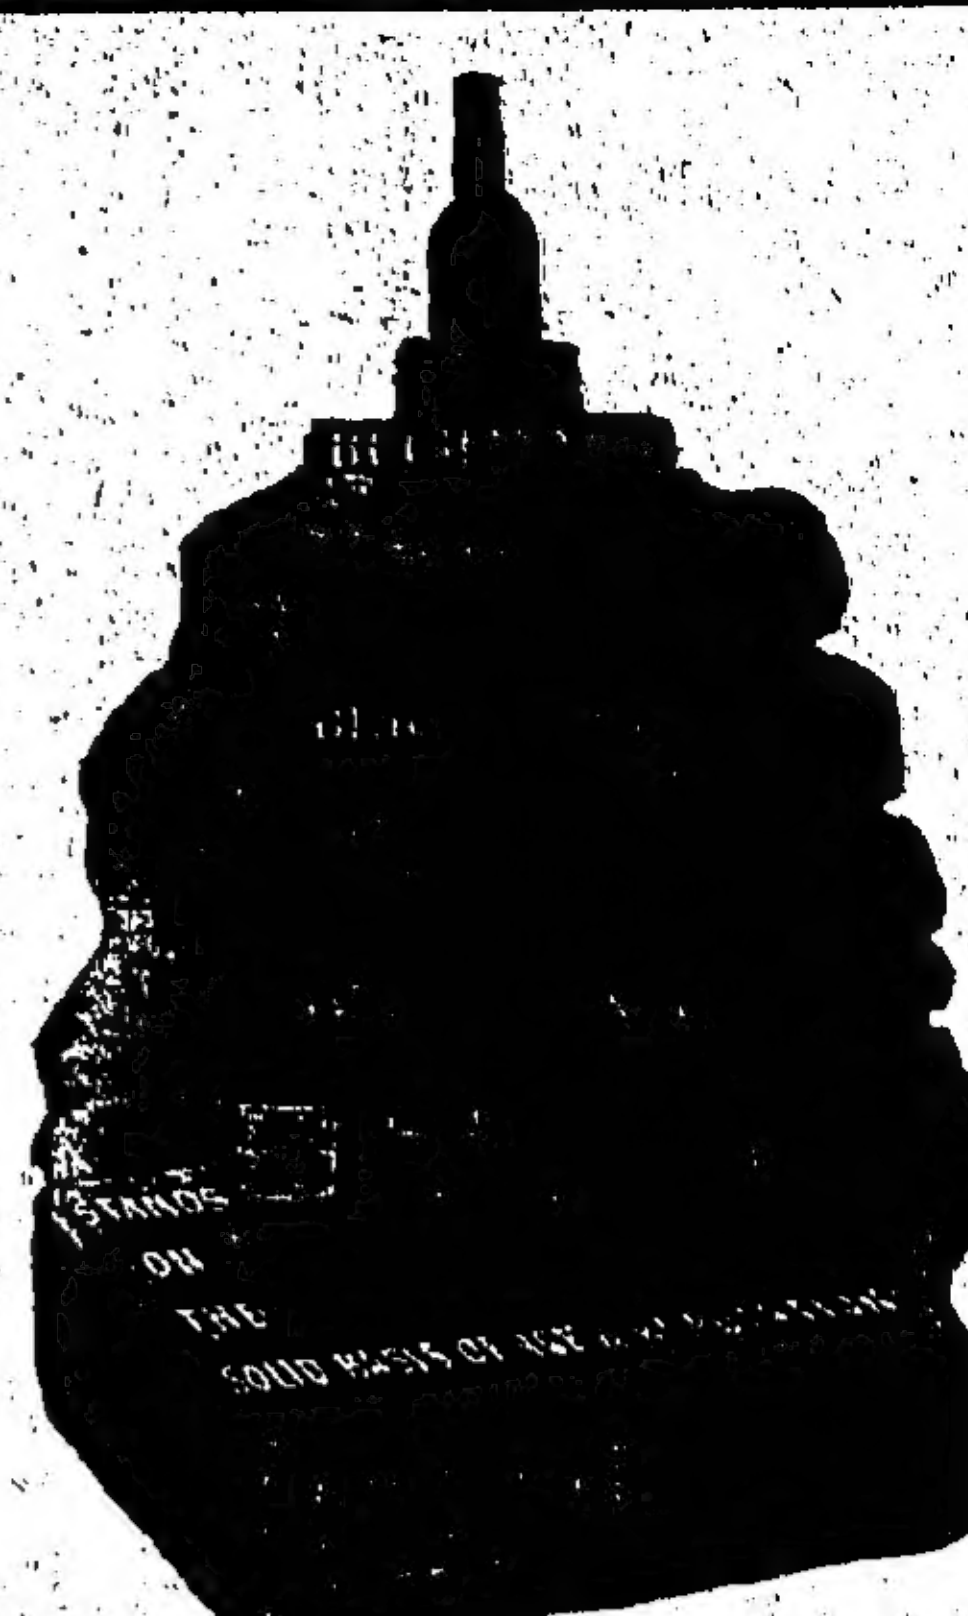

Mr. Anthony Eden, on behalf of Sir Samuel Hoare, informed Mr. A. E. L. Chorlton (Con., Plating) in the House of Commons to-day that he had no information whether any difficulty was experienced during the recent Japanese troop movements in North China in securing prompt despatch of goods from Tientsin and other northern ports into the interior, but no doubt if there had been any such serious inconvenience his attention would have been drawn in the matter. He would consider making enquiries, but he was quite confident that the Ambassador would have sent the information had the need arisen.—Reuter

Hamburg July 2.

A new world record for motorless gliding of a most interesting character was established by Peter Riedel who, taking advantage of propitious weather, attempted to fly from Tempelhof, Berlin to an airport some two hundred and seventy kilometres distance from Hamburg which was completely successful.

Riedel was towed by an aeroplane from Tempelhof airport to a height of several hundred metres and then he was cast loose and reached his destination in six hours and forty minutes landing precisely at Hamburg's airport like an aeroplane. His average speed was forty kilometres per hour and the greatest height he attained was two thousand metres, thus showing that even a motorless flight can be carried out under complete pilot control.—Transocean Kuo Min

EIGHTY YEARS IN TRANSIT

Letter From Soldier To Sweetheart

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, July 2, 7.30 p.m.)

Berlin July 2.

"Better late than never" is the proud boast of the postal authorities of the tiny Franconian townlet Rittenau where a letter written eighty seven years ago just reached its destination. During the turbulent year of the revolution of 1848, Private Peter Peppel of the fourth Infantry of the Aschaffenburg Regiment stationed at the village of Pfaffenhelm wrote home on September 29 to tell his sweetheart "all is well." The letter reached Rittenau, but the inkeeper, who was also the postmaster, fearing its discovery by the revolutionaries, pushed it behind a mirror on an open fire mantelpiece where it then slipped down, between the skirting. When the inn was being rebuilt the letter was discovered on the June 21, 1935 and was just delivered to Telegal the descendant of its original addressee.—Reuter

PROTECTION FOR COMPANIES

Washington, July 1.

The House of Representatives rejected President Roosevelt's request for legislation to abolish unnecessary holding companies not later than 1942 by 216 votes to 146.

There has thus been brought to a climax one of the bitterest legislative disputes of recent years, and the voting is significant as indicating the strength of the President's present control of the House.

The House now goes ahead with a modified version of the Utilities Bill, contrary to the wishes of the President.

The fight over the "death sentence" provision of the Bill will be transferred to the conference committee to adjust the differences between the Senate and the House.

The Committee may either reject or retain the provision.—Reuter

SMILING PAT HENDREN

Plays A Dashing Innings

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14. When the score was 63 for five, Walter's policy seemed to be justified.

Then O'Connor and T. N. Pearce embarked upon a half-century stand, and later the Essex captain found a useful partner in Unwin. Slow to begin with, he drove with great freedom after parsing his 50. Perks got him with a superb ball when he was 14 short of his 100.

SMILING SMITH AGAIN

Smiling Smith, of Derbyshire, did a little more to bring himself to the notice of the Test selectors. He hit a glorious 61 against Warwick at Edgbaston—which was more than all the other Derby batsmen put together!

True, the effort took him two hours and a half, but it was a great piece of work, sound and stylish. Rain considerably upset the day's programme—as witness the grand total of 119 runs.

It never rains but it pours

So thought Lancashire and Yorkshire yesterday. Their historic "Battle of the Roses" fell completely under the weather. It means a heavy loss to Lancashire, for the gate was not insured. Perhaps they thought that, as the match was being played in Manchester, no one would accept the risk!

Another Smith—the Leicester fast bowler of that name—also came through with flying colours. He took eight wickets for 44 runs against Northants, who were all out for 85—and that after "skipper" Snowden had won the toss for the seventh time this season.

There was nothing much wrong with the wicket because Leicester gained a lead with only one man out. And Berry will resume tomorrow needing only seven for his century.

FACE DID IT

Face that killed—Nottingham, Gower and Wat's (fast) and E. R. T. Holmes (fast medium) got nine wickets between them for Surrey. Wicketkeeper Lilley was the only man to play them with comform. He stayed in 125 minutes for 60.

Gower in his final spell, sent down four overs and three balls and took three wickets for a run apiece.

"Mr. Extras" proved a very useful scorer for Notts. He profited from some rather erratic bowling which the blustering wind made more difficult to take.

Surrey had done well to get Notts out for 229 on a wicket that had been protected from the rain, but they lost their advantage when five of their best wickets went down to the old firm of Voce and Larwood for 87.

Real holiday cricket at Bristol, where Barnett and D. A. C. Page took 106 off the Kent bowling in just over an hour, Barnett getting his first century of the season. The surprising thing was that, despite the rate of scoring, Barnett hit only five 4's. By way of contrast, Page, in his 82, hit eleven boundaries and a 6.

FREEMAN TAKES—NONE!

Believe it or not, Freeman did not take a wicket, and conceded 98 runs. But C. S. Marriott, playing for the first time this season, made up for that with six for 106.

There may be a treat in store for to-morrow. Woolley and Ames are in possession.

J. C. White is usually a cautious batsman, but he showed enterprise in getting a hundred for Somerset against Hampshire. R. A. Ingle gave him best support, the captain and ex-captain putting on 94 in one hundred minutes.

Ingle was the more aggressive partner. Jumping out and straight driving with great accuracy, he took the sting out of an attack that had been encouraged by some early successes.

At the close of the innings Andrews was in punishing mood. He hit a 6 over the stand, a 5 and six 4's.

Putting his opponents in having been successful in the previous match, C. F. Walters, the Warwickshire captain, repeated the dose against Essex.

THE INTERPORT GALA

Shanghai's Aquatic Team

Shanghai, June 28.

At a meeting of the Shanghai Amateur Swimming Association held at the Rowing Club last evening, three important questions were thoroughly gone into: selection of a team for the interport gala to be held in Hong Kong in September, water polo, goal average, and the setting aside of tentative dates for the galas of the Rowing Club, Cercle Sportif Français and Foreign Y.M.C.A.

The problem of weighing the possibilities of the material available in Shanghai when opposed by the fast swimmers of the Colony received very careful consideration and the feeling of the Association was that while Shanghai will probably be able to hold their own in the 50 yds, 100 yds, and 200 yds, Shanghai may be let down in the 440 yds and 880 yds, events unless keen and serious support is forthcoming. D. Stewart (C.S.F.), G. J. Grilk (C.S.F.) and P. Bertré (Y.M.C.A.) should do well in these events providing they get into training as soon as possible.

For the other events the Association executive will be watching the progress of the talent in the various galas, and will keep an eye open for new blood possessing a fair showing of promise. Some of the possibilities which the Association will probably consider are: N. Hammond, 50 yds, 100 yds, and 200 yds; A. Logan, 220 yds, and 440 yds; G. J. Grilk 50 yds, 100 yds, and diving; T. Paget, 50 yds, and 100 yds; W. Wagner, back-stroke; H. P. Bertré, back-stroke and diving; E. McAllister, breast-stroke and back-stroke; W. Humber, diving. Hans Park will be possibly called upon to make up the water polo team.

The probable interport team will consist of ten members, and as it is the hope of the S.A.S.A. that Shanghai should make a good showing in Hong Kong, all local swimmers are urged to co-operate with the Association to this end: for further particulars and assistance, all seriously interested are advised to communicate with D. Lyon, hon. secretary, c/o Jardine, Matheson & Co., Ltd.

Recent comment on goal averages in water polo has brought to light the existence of a rule which states quite clearly that in the event of a tie for honours, the leading teams are to replay "to determine the championship" which will put to rest the feelings of many water polo enthusiasts.

The tentative dates for the galas are as follows: Rowing Club, August 23 and 24, Cercle Sportif Français, August 31, and Foreign Y.M.C.A. September 7.

Tigers Recover

New York, July 1.

The New York Yankees were not engaged in the American Baseball League to-day.

Detroit Tigers, who, at the beginning of the season, were strongly tipped for the championship, are making a recovery from an indifferent start, and are now second to the Yankees. To-day they beat the Cleveland Indians by four runs to one.

Boston and Chicago were among the winning teams in the American League.

The National League fixture between Pittsburgh and St. Louis was postponed on account of rain.

BUDGE QUALIFIES FOR LAST FOUR AT WIMBLEDON

London, July 1.

Donald Budge, young American threat for the Wimbledon crown, to-day advanced to the semi-final round by defeating the Englishman, Bunny Austin, in four stiff sets. Young Budge thus joins the champion, Fred Perry of England, Jack Crawford of Australia, and Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany, in the ranks of the mighty. Between these four is the fight for the world's most coveted tennis title.

Budge won to-day in convincing style, even though he lost the first set and although Austin fought him all the way. The very fact that Austin was playing in such form as to take a substantial lead in the beginning made the American's victory the more impressive.

Earlier in the day Perry had won his way to the semi-final by defeating Menzel, the Czechoslovakian star, in straight sets. Von Cramm advanced after four sets against the Australian McGrath, Crawford disposed of Sidney Wood, one of America's leading players.

Budge beat Austin 3-6, 10-8, 6-4, 7-5. His victory over the seeded Englishman was something of a sensation since the red-headed Californian is only ranked twentieth in the United States.

Austin collared the first set and had a good lead in the second before Budge got his stride and began stroking beautiful long backhand winners. Serving aces and volleying with a real punch, he evened the score in the second set at five-all. The games ran on service until the American broke through at the eighteenth and took the set.

DRAMATIC GAME

Budge continued to play superbly and despite adverse decisions ran through Austin's second service to lead finally at four-two. Austin recovered and overhauled the American winning the next three games to bring the score five-four. Budge, however, turned the score in his favour at the eleventh, making the count six-five, with service to follow.

This last game of this set was dramatic. On three occasions Budge was at match point. Austin saved himself on the first occasion with a smash and Budge netted the second and third chance, but finally won out.

The American killed a shoulder-high volley in the final set to win the match.

THE LADIES

The last eight women in the Wimbledon competition, in order as they will meet in the quarter-final round, are:

Miss Dorothy Round, Britain, v. Miss Joan Hartigan, Australia; Miss Helen Wills-Moody, U.S.A. v. Mme. Mathieu, France; Miss Jędrzejowska, Poland, v. Miss Helen Jacobs, U.S.A.; Miss K. Stammers, Britain, v. Frau Sperling, Germany.

Mrs. Wills-Moody was given the sternest struggle by Miss Emmy Cepkova, "the Garbo of the Court," and finally won out by 3-6, 6-4, 6-2. But the Czechoslovakian actually led 3-1 in the second set and appeared upset when, owing to an umpiring muddle, the score was changed three times before Mrs. Wills-Moody was given the eighth game bringing the score to four-all. After that the Czech seemed to lose heart.

Mme. Mathieu was all out to beat Mrs. King, 8-6, 3-6, 6-4, and Miss Jędrzejowska beat Mrs. Whittingstall of Britain, 6-2, 8-2.

FOUR WICKETS WITH FOUR BALLS

Worcester Put In-And Out-By Surrey

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14. Eleven years ago Peach, the Surrey bowler, took four Sussex wickets in four balls at the Oval. Yesterday another Surrey bowler—this time Gover—repeated the feat in the match with Worcestershire at Worcester.

When P. G. H. Fender put Worcester in to bat Gover presented little difficulty at first, and after Bull and Gibbons had been sent back for 22 runs, Warne hit him for 14 in one over. Then Gover began a deadly spell, and he took all the last eight wickets at a cost of one and a half runs each, his figures being 6 overs, 0 maidens, 12 runs, 8 wickets.

He did the hat-trick with his last three deliveries before lunch, getting Thorn, a newcomer to county cricket, leg-before, and bowling Perks and Horton. And with his first ball after the interval he brought the innings to an end by bowling Jackson!

His good length was far too much for irresolute batsmen on turf that gave him little help, and he came out of the innings with eight wickets for 34.

Surrey also began with a quick disaster, Perks taking Gregory's off-stump with 14 on the board. Sandham and Squires settled down to ready run-getting, and within an hour they took their side ahead. They sent up the 100 in 80 minutes, and in all they put on 141 for the second stand before Sandham, when seeming set for his hundredth century was taken behind the wicket.

The innings of Squires was much more forceful, and he had the distinction of making his second hundred of the season. He was at the wicket two hours and a half, hitting a 6 and 10 4's.

Fishlock also defied the bowling for 90 minutes, Surrey finishing 196 ahead with three wickets to fall.

GLoucester in sight of BIG LEAD

The match between the West-country counties at Bristol suffered through rain, but while play did go on Gloucestershire had the better of play against Somerset, finishing only 34 runs behind with nine wickets in hand.

Half the Somerset side were out for 76, John Lee, third to leave at 59, batted 80 minutes against a keen attack, but with 10 added J. C. White was sent back. After delay through rain both Burrough and Ingle lost their wickets to Goddard; then Andrews stepped on his stumps in playing-back.

The stand between Burrough and Ingle, which added 39 in 35 minutes, was the best of an innings which was over in two and a half hours.

Goddard followed his fine work against Kent by some more splendid bowling which brought him five wickets for just under eight each.

A shower which caused another delay of 40 minutes eased the pitch for Gloucestershire, and Barnett and Sinfield found little difficulty in scoring.

REST FOR GEARY AND SMITH
After dismissing Glamorgan for 158 runs at Leicester, the home county went so slowly that in 87 minutes they only raised 47 for the loss of two wickets. Thus, Leicestershire will continue to-day 111 runs behind, with eight wickets in hand.

A heavy shower after 18 runs had been scored by Glamorgan without loss delayed the cricket for an hour, and then sunshine and a strong wind dried the turf rapidly. Three wickets fell before lunch for 45, but Turnbull and Duckfield, by steady methods, gradually improved the position.

As the day progressed, the wicket became easier, but the batsmen had to watch occasional deliveries from Smith which rose nastily. At 72 Marlow replaced Geary, this being the first bowling change made by Leicestershire since the last day of the game against Worcestershire on June 31. Geary and Smith certainly deserved a rest.

With Marlow bowling, Duckfield fell to a catch at slip at 110, when the fourth wicket had added 65 in an hour. Although he gave two difficult chances and now and again found himself in trouble with the slow bowlers, Turnbull batted resolutely. He watched the ball right on to the bat, but used his feet well to bring off some fine drives. Fifth to leave, at 133, he scored his 42 out of 91.

Later, Smart alone faced the bowling with any confidence, the last five wickets falling for 25. Geary and Marlow were the successful bowlers, although Geary, when bowling into the wind at the start of the innings, had difficulty in finding a length.

Berry began brightly for Leicestershire, and hooked Clay for 6. Then he fell to the next delivery. The early loss of Berry apparently unsettled Shipman and Armstrong, for they took 20 minutes to score six.

THE SANITARY BOARD

Licences Granted

Two out of the four applications for eating house licences that came up before the Sanitary Board at their fortnightly meeting held yesterday were granted.

Mr. W. J. Carrie presided and those present were:—Dr. G. W. Pope (M.O.H.), Messrs. Wong Kwong Tin, M. K. Lo, L. C. F. Bellamy, Dr. R. A. de Castro Basto, Dr. Li Shu Fan, Mr. C. J. Roe (Secretary) and Mr. Im Ping Tseung (Assistant Secretary).

After the minutes of the last meeting had been confirmed letters from the Government relative to the election of Dr. Li Shu Fan to be a member of the board for a further period of three years were laid on the table.

FOOD PRESERVING

The M. O. H. in answer to Mr. Wong Kwong Tin's question: "In view of the decision of the Board to refuse the registration of a Food Preserving Establishment at No. 441 Castle Peak Road Lot No. 1588 on account of the failure to surface a large drying ground with cement, will the Medical Officer of Health kindly say whether it is his intention to recommend similar conditions in all cases where fruit is dried out of doors in such establishments?" said:

The answer is in the affirmative, unless very good reasons to the contrary are advanced. In any special case I do not think I would recommend any modifications of the waiving of the bye-laws.

WATER CLOSETS

Another matter that came up for discussion was that concerning the installation of water closets in the house at Boundary Street on N.K.L. No. 1796.

The chairman informed the board that prior to this there was one W.C. on the premises and since that the present premises had been sub-divided, that is to say other rooms had been added to it, and between them there was only one water closet, the board was of the opinion that the landlord should be notified to the effect that an additional water closet be installed so as to serve the whole house. This was the stipulation made to them upon their request to install the first closet. The board agreed to this.

EATING HOUSE LICENCE

The Chairman informed the board that the application for the renewal of an eating house licence at Nos. 91 and 93, Ma Tau Wei Road, ground floors was undecided by the select committee. The reasons given were that according to the Assistant M.O.H. all restaurants and cafes should have water supplied by mains. In this case the water was taken from a tank a few hundred yards away and stored in a tank with a lid covering same. This had been going on since 1927 and the Assistant M.O.H. thinks that the water in this way may be contaminated and he moved that three months time be given to the applicant to fulfil this requirement before a renewal of the licence be granted. This was seconded by Dr. Pope but Mr. Lo on rising to amend that on the same conditions as heretofore that the licence be granted that at the renewal in the next applicant should be warned that unless water be derived from mains at the house the renewal would not be granted.

Mr. Lo contended that the restaurant had been carrying on business since 1927 and because the Assistant M.O.H. thinks that by the end of the year a new legislation would come into force whereby restaurants and cafes should have water drawn from pipes installed in the house he should not see why the application should not be granted now, as it would be another 12 months before such law would come into force.

Mr. Lo further submitted that the circumstances standing in 1927 up to date are about identical there being very little changes. This was seconded by Dr. Castro and when put to the vote it was agreed that the renewal be granted for the next 12 months and the applicant be warned that unless water pipes are laid by the end of the time, the next application for renewal may not be granted.

ANOTHER DISCUSSION

An application for an eating house licence at No. 43 High Street, ground floor was refused. The Select Committee was at variance again in the question of the application licence at No. 400 Shanghai Street, ground floor. Mr. Carrie said that the report on the premises was that the house was of an old type—1903 built. It was badly lighted, ventilation bad

NIGHT INTO DAWN

A Wonder Organ

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14.

A machine which by the depression of a key can turn a stage snowstorm into a sunset; night into dawn, and blend colours until the artistic eye of the stage producer is satisfied has been perfected by a twenty-one-year-old man.

For the last three years he has been experimenting with electrical current and coloured lighting. He has become the master of rhythm lighting.

He is Mr. Frederick Bentham, of the Strand Electric and Engineering Co., Ltd. His machine is known as the light console.

To the ordinary layman it resembles an organ of the type used in cinemas, controls not music but electrical current.

It has completely done away with the old type of switchboard, where more than three or four men were employed pulling and turning switches for electrical stage effects.

In the bustle of Covent Garden, where the works are a demonstration was given yesterday. Four pieces were given. First, the Storm Fantasia from the "Flying Dutchman," by Wagner.

From an ordinary set—green and red—came multi coloured harmony—all done by the depression of keys.

The man at the lighting console could make snowfalls in Hades or could turn sunset to dawn—summer to winter.

and generally did not come up to expectations. After Mr. Lo and Dr. Li had supported the motion that the application be granted the motion was put to the board and was passed by 4 to 3 votes.

Application for an eating house licence at the first floor of the first house, and the ground and first floors of the second house on N.K.L. No. 401, Castle Peak Road was refused.

The remainder of the business was of a purely routine nature.

THE JAPANESE LAWRENCE

Stories Of Doihara

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 14.

Many strange stories are told of Major-general Doihara, that Japanese officer who is on his way to Peking to see that Japan's demands on China are fulfilled.

Like Lawrence of Arabia, he is said to be on a secret mission to every place where there is undetermined trouble.

In fact, he often is. He played an important part in what the Japanese still call the "Manchurian Incident" of 1931. He was then a Colonel on the General Staff of the Japanese army in Manchuria.

He helped to restore order in Mukden, and to organise the Provisional Manchurian Government.

CANTON VISIT

He has recently been travelling about China, seeing businessmen and politicians and attempting to persuade them to favour a Sino-Japanese rapprochement.

Two months ago he was in Canton, unofficial permanent headquarters of dissident Chinese politicians. He denied political purpose, but saw Dr. Hu Han-min, chief opponent of General Chiang Kai-shek among Chinese revolutionaries.

Dr. Hu is now on his way to Europe, and the opposition he led is collapsing.

STUDENT OF TOKYO

Like many of the Chinese revolutionary leaders, Dr. Hu studied in Tokyo, where he met Sun Yat-sen.

He went to Moscow in 1927, and returned to become chairman of the Kuomintang Political Council. The Political Council corresponds to the once famous Soviet "Politbureau," and the Kuomintang to the Soviet Communist Party, on which it was closely and consciously modelled.

The Kuomintang has been the basis of the Chinese revolutionary government for the past ten years. Japan is now threatening it with extinction.
